CAL FAVORING BADGER STATE FOR VACATION

Northern Wisconsin or Michigan Will Be Summer White House, Lawrence Says

MANY SITES ARE OFFERED

Disadvantages of West Coast Believed Too Great for Consideration

BULLETIN

Washington—(AP)—A petition signed by the Mayors of 16 Wisconsin cities urging President Coolidge to spend his vacation in that state was presented at the White House today by a group of students from the West Division High school of Milwaukee. "Wisconsin offers the finest of nature's gifts for you to enjoy during your vacation," said the invitation. "The people of Wisconsin welcome you."

Washington—Piled high on the desk of President Coolidge are pictures and descriptive memoranda about almost every summer place west of the Mississippi. If anyone has any doubt of the president's desire to "See America First" the beautiful places pictured for the president will remove it at once.

Never before possibly, has there been assembled in any one place, west of the Mississippi, so many pictures of summer vacation spots. The president is expected to select one of these places for his vacation. The pictures are being sent to him by the various states and territories. ARRANGE PROGRAM FOR SPRING WORK OF BOYS SECTION

Meetings, Hikes and Stunts Announced for Y. M. C. A. Young Folks

A spring program of hikes, socials, suppers and meetings for the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. from the present time until summer vacation in June, was completed Tuesday by John W. Pugh, boys' work secretary. The program will open on Monday, April 18, when two boys' softball leagues will be organized for the summer.

On Friday evening, April 22, a supper will be given for all boys who joined the association during the boys' membership campaign in March and up to the date of the supper. Boys who secured at least three new members in the drive also will be guests at the supper. At 7:30 a joint social for Pioneers and Friendly Indians will be held, featured by games, stunts and stories. The social will be under the auspices of the Sophomore Triangle club.

Other Pioneer socials will be held on May 6 and 20 and Friendly Indian socials will be held on May 7 and 21. Hikes for boys of the division will be held on April 16 and 30 and May 7, 14, 21 and 28. Some of these will be overnight hikes, depending upon the weather, and dates for these trips will be announced later. Mr. Pugh said.

World Brotherhood week, sponsored by the Hi-Y club will be held from April 24 to May 1, during which the club will raise the annual world brotherhood quota of the local association. The lobby will be decorated and a program for all boys of the division will be held each evening of the week.

As soon as the weather becomes warmer, boys' gymnasium classes will be held outdoors, concluding with a swim in the association pool. A department spring tennis tourney also will be held but the dates have not been set. Camp meetings to plan for the annual department camp at Onaway Island, Waupaca, will be held. The local association is able to have only one week this year, from July 21 to 28, in place of the usual two weeks.

TABULATE BIDS FOR BOULEVARD SHRUBBERY

Bids for shrubbery on the boulevards on W. College-ave, S. Cherry-st and N. State-st were to be tabulated at a meeting of the street and bridges committee Thursday afternoon. The committee is to examine the bids and will make a recommendation at the council meeting next Tuesday evening. Several other routine matters will be acted on by the committee.

Hold Short Meetings
All boys' clubs of the Y. M. C. A. will hold short meetings for business this week to allow the members to get away early to go to church, according to John W. Pugh, boys' work secretary. The clubs will meet from 7 o'clock to 7:30, rather than beginning at the usual hour, 7:30, and lasting at least an hour.

FILMLAND'S LONGEST TRAIN

Miss Pearl in the "Ballet of Jewels" in the production, "The Midnight Sun" is shown wearing the longest train in Filmland, at Fischers Appleton theatre Tuesday. The train drapes off 26 feet from its wearer, who is required to wear stilts 12 inches high to properly display it. The gown is made entirely of white satin, jeweled with pearls. It is devoid of sleeves but boasts cuffs which cover the arms from elbow to wrist, drop to the floor in long spatulate shaped panels. The lower part of the skirt is festooned with balloons in pastel shades.

Y. M. C. A. SPONSORS 2 SOFTBALL LEAGUES

Organization of two softball leagues for boys this summer will be attempted by the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. at a meeting at 4:30 Monday afternoon, according to John W. Pugh, boys' work secretary. The boys' department of the association will sponsor the two leagues, which will be open to any team in the city. One league will be composed of teams of boys under 14 years of age and the other of boys over that age. Election of league officers, preparation of rules and schedules and all of the organization work will be completed at Monday's meeting, Mr. Pugh said, providing enough teams are interested in the project.

Barbers Hold Meeting
The Appleton Barber's union met at 7:30 Monday evening at Trades and Labor hall. Routine business matters were transacted. Several barbers from Kaukauna attended.

CONTINUE PREPARING FOR Y. M. C. A. CAMPAIGN

The first checkup meeting of team captains in the $5.00 campaign of the Y. M. C. A., which will be held from April 18 to 23, will take place at 6 o'clock Tuesday evening at the association building. Organization of the drive was completed at a meeting last Wednesday at which every team captain was represented. The meeting Tuesday evening will be for the purpose of checking up the names of workers secured since Thursday. The opening campaign dinner is on Monday evening, April 18.

Lenten Service
The Rev. J. A. Holmes will speak on Numbered with the Transgressors at the Holy week service Wednesday evening at the First Methodist church. This is the third of a series of sermons given by the pastor this week. The quartet choir of the church will sing "Bow Down Thine Ear" by Parker at the program. Carl S. McKee is director of the choir.

FRATERNAL DAY IS TO BE OBSERVED IN APPLETON MAY 1

Keller Re-elected Chairman of Committee in Charge of Arrangements

Fraternal day in Appleton will be observed May 1. It was decided at a meeting of representatives of fraternal organizations Monday evening at the city hall. A program will be arranged to encourage greater cooperation and friendliness among the organizations in the city. All members of fraternal organizations as well as the general public will be invited to the program. The place of the meeting has not been decided but a committee was appointed to make arrangements for a hall. Special invitations will be sent to other organizations not affiliated with the league.

Gustave Keller, Sr., was re-elected chairman of the league and Mrs. Clyde F. Cavert, is secretary. The program committee will include: A. W. Zerbel, Mrs. E. E. Dunn, E. A. Killgren, Mrs. C. F. Cavert, and Mrs. Frances O'Keefe; the committee on arrangements, C. B. Peterson, Frank J. Huntz, Abe Segal, Michael Kerrigan, Harvey Priebe; the music committee, James H. Ballet and Harry Bliss.

A similar program was held last year at Lawrence Memorial chapel and its success warranted another this year, the organizations believed.

The date set for the program by the national fraternal league was April 29, but in order not to interfere with the success of the play, "Damon and Pythias" to be presented by Knights of Pythias lodge April 28 and 29 at Lawrence Memorial chapel, the program here was deferred.

NOW YOU Ask One

THE CIVIL WAR

Sixty-six years ago today southern soldiers fired on Fort Sumter, and the Civil War began. Today's "Now You Ask One," accordingly, deals with the Civil War. You'll find the answers on page 9 if you need 'em.

1—Where did John Brown make his famous arsenal raid?

2—With what rank did U. S. Grant first serve in the army during the Civil War?

3—What Confederate general maneuvered his infantry so speedily that his troops were known as the "foot cavalry"?

4—What famous Confederate commerce destroyers raided northern shipping with great daring and success until finally defeated by a U. S. warship?

5—Who commanded the Union army at the battle of Chancellorsville?

6—Why was this battle, although a Confederate victory, very costly to the southern cause?

7—What other great northern success took place on the same day that Meade defeated Lee at Gettysburg?

8—Between what armies, and with what result, was the battle of Cold Harbor fought?

9—At what stage in the Civil war was trench warfare, almost identical with that practiced during the World war, brought into prominence?

10—What Confederate cavalry general gained fame by leading raids clear around the entire Union army?

FORMER APPLETON MAN IS BURNED TO DEATH IN WOODS

Body of August Holtz Is Brought to Home Here for Burial

August Holtz, a woodsman at Rhinelander who was burned to death in a brush fire there Sunday morning was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Holtz, 1206 W. Elsie-st. His body was brought to Appleton for burial Tuesday. Funeral services were held from his parent's home at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and burial was in Riverside cemetery. The Rev. F. M. Brandt of St. Paul Lutheran church was in charge. Fred Holtz, a brother of August Holtz, went to Rhinelander Monday to accompany the body here.

Mr. Holtz was about 42 years of age. He was born in Germany but was brought to this country when he was a young child. He lived in Appleton practically all of his life until about four years ago when he went to the northern part of the state to farm. A year ago he moved to Rhinelander.

Besides his parents and brother Fred, there survive three sisters, Mrs. Henry Schultz and Mrs. Emil Bolling of Appleton, Mrs. Hugo Warning of Hortonville; two brothers, Herman Holtz of Appleton, and Carl Holtz of Norrie.

Mr. Holtz and Tony Myshack were asleep in a shack about 11 miles northeast of Rhinelander. The latter was awakened early Sunday morning when the roof caved in on their heads. He escaped after being badly burned, but was reported Monday as having little chance for recovery. The men

WHITE HOUSE IS IN HOTTEST PART OF WASHINGTON

Buchanan One of First Presidents to Leave City During Summer

BY BASCOM N. TIMMONS
Washington, D. C.—With President Coolidge preparing to leave his National Capital for the summer and the possibility that his vacation will be spent in Wisconsin, the vacations of his predecessors are recalled. The term "Summer White House" is of comparatively recent origin, and until Roosevelt began taking his vacations at his home in New York, it was the more common practice for the President to remain in Washington. The White House, which is in the heart of the hottest part of the city, and before the days of paved streets was often enveloped in clouds of hot, dry dust, so many of the presidents left the city and lived in the outlying sections of the city.

President Buchanan, in the summer of 1857, left the mansion on Pennsylvania avenue and went to a cottage at the Soldier's home, about four miles away on a wooded rise of ground. He used this retreat yearly while he was in the office and his successor, Lincoln, went there each year.

President Lincoln maintained his office at the White House, however, and once back and forth, often on horseback, twice daily. Walt Whitman memorialized these daily rides in the poem "Drum Taps" which he wrote while the President was in the White House for the entire summer every year and some years did not leave at all.

During President Cleveland's first term he did not leave Washington for a vacation. He was married at this time and took his wife to Cleveland Park, now a residential section of Washington about three miles from the White House, for the summer. In his second administration, the summers of 1893 and 1894 were spent in a house called Gray Gables at Buzzard's Bay, Mass., where he spent much time in hunting. In 1895 he went to Marion, Mass., a quiet little town, where his daughter was born and whom he named after the town. His last summer as President also was spent in Buzzard's Bay.

McKinley did not take a full vacation, but made numerous short trips during his administration. Roosevelt enjoyed nothing more than for the work of his office to slack up so he could take his family and go to his home, Sagamore Hill, at Oyster Bay, New York.

Here he lived in the simplest manner, playing with his boys most of the morning and attending to necessary official duties in the early hours of the afternoon with the reception, informally, of visitors following. Sagamore Hill, named after the Indian chief who sold the site for a song, was not an elaborate house but it was a real home. It is said that the dinner bell was one once worn by a cow.

Taft, a great traveler, had other ideas of vacations. His ideal would be a trip to Panama or a comprehensive tour of the west. However, most of his summers were spent in Statehouse Cottage at Beverly, Mass., a sleepy little New England town, where he established the executive offices. These offices were the best to be found in the town, but since there were no elevators, the President, then noted for his weight, was obliged to walk. Since leaving the White House, Mr. Taft has spent most of summers in New England and last year went to Canada.

President Wilson, in the first three years he was in office, made short visits to Harleken House at Cornish, N. H. Cornish had a name before the President visited there, but then, as now, the name was a mere title. There is no such town, no postoffice, nothing but a small scattered group of farmhouses. This was chosen by the President for its quietness and simplicity. It was at Harleken House that he met Mrs. Galt who later became his wife. Mrs. Galt was a guest of Miss Margaret Wilson.

In 1916 he moved the executive offices for the first time in his administration and went to Shadow Lawn at Long Branch, N. J., for the summer. Shadow Lawn was a large estate noted for its century-old boxwood among other things. Shortly after Christmas this last winter Shadow Lawn was destroyed by fire and several acres of the famous boxwood and cedars were burned over. The loss to the house and furnishings was reported at more than $1,000,000.

In 1917 the rush of the World war kept Mr. Wilson close to Washington and his vacation, if it may be called that, consisted of a few weekends. The following year, likewise, was a busy one and it was not until rather late in the season that he was able to get away and visit a few weeks at the summer home of Col. E. M. House in Manchester, Mass.

Calvin Coolidge in 1923 went to his father's farm at Plymouth, Mass., as vice-president and while there took the oath of office by the light of an oil lamp and returned a few days later as president. His 1924 vacation was spent there and in 1925 he moved the entire White House establishment to White Court, Swampscott, Mass. And last summer White Pine Camp, at Paul Smiths, N. Y., in the heart of the Adirondacks was the scene of his outing. Here he spent much time in fishing and tramping the woods.

Y. M. C. A. MEN ARE CHURCH WORKERS

Question of Relationship Between "Y" and Church Answered by Council

The effect of employment in the Y. M. C. A. upon the secretary's relation to church membership and service, a question frequently debated in church circles, has been definitely answered for the first time by the national council of the association, according to local association officers. The report covers a detailed study of associations in 200 cities from 5,000 to 25,000 population, which includes the exact size of Appleton. It was made by Rev. D. G. Lathaw, secretary of the national council's department of relations to church and interchurch bodies, with the cooperation of Frank Ritchie of the department of small city fields, and the counselling commission of the churches.

Though Appleton was not included in the survey with other cities its size, local officers made their own report because the subject was receiving much attention. All staff members of Appleton Y. M. C. A. are church members. Positions in the church held by the various staff members are: Bible class leader, class officer, three Sunday school teachers, two club leaders, and a Sunday school department superintendent.

LA CROSSE MAN IS ON PEACE SOCIETY

John Esch of Interstate Commerce Commission to Represent State

BY BASCOM N. TIMMONS
Washington, D. C.—John J. Esch, of La Crosse, chairman, Interstate Commerce commission, has been appointed a member of the Board of Directors of the American Peace Society. It was announced by Theodore D. Burton from the headquarters in Washington.

In asking Mr. Esch to represent Wisconsin on the board of this century-old society, President Burton said that "the diversity of aims, the conflict of methods, and the dissipation of resources which have characterized the activities of some peace societies have caused many well-disposed persons to regard all agencies of peace with indifference or hostility. Some believe that there are groups of well-intentioned persons innocently adding sinister efforts to harm our Government and our institutions."

"In order that there may be concerted effort to overcome sinister movements," Mr. Burton explained, "and in order that the greatest number of American citizens may be brought to right thinking about international peace, we must have a wider moral and financial support of leading men and women whose patriotism and sincerity of purpose are beyond reproach."

Accepting the invitation to represent Wisconsin on the board of the American Peace Society, Mr. Esch stated, in part, as follows: "I feel highly honored in your extending to me this invitation."

The American Peace Society will celebrate its one-hundredth anniversary in May of next year. The program will be international in scope and calculated to reveal "America's contribution to world peace." It will also take stock of the peace movement in the United States.

The President of the Society is Congressman Theodore E. Burton, who is also President of the American Group of the Interparliamentary Union. He was a member of the United States Debt Funding Commission.

20 APPLETON BOYS TO ATTEND Y. M. C. A. CAMP

Approximately 20 Appleton boys are expected to attend J. I. Y. club training period at Camp Manitowish, state Y. M. C. A. camp for boys at Boulder Junction, according to John W. Pugh, boys' work secretary of the local association. This period is the final week in August and the first week in September. Few local boys attend the other periods because of the local association camp for younger boys at Onaway Island, Waupaca. Only members of the local J. I. Y. club attend in large numbers to get special club training. Green Bay and other nearby cities which have no local camps send large delegations to the summer camp for each period of the summer. No Appleton boys have yet registered for Manitowish, not even for J. I. Y. period, while Green Bay already has several.

Appleton's Leading Photographer Testifies For New Remedy

Says he knows of many cases of relief brought by Drecto.

There is scarcely a better known man in town than Mr. W. Ross, Appleton's leading photographer, whose studio is located at 206 West College Ave. He has been in business here for 40 years and has pleased customers and friends everywhere. In a recent talk with the Drecto man at Schlitz Bros. Drug Store, he says:

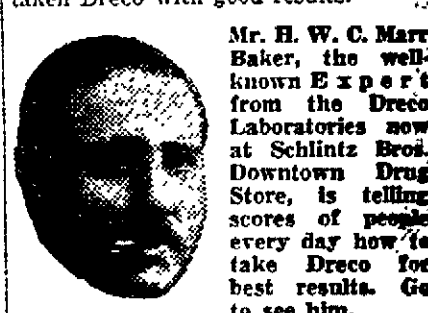

"Since the Drecto man has been at Schlitz Bros. Drug Store, he has sent to me many folks who wished their photographs to appear in the papers in connection with their testimonials. I can truly state that I have never seen so many people enthused over any one medicine as they have Drecto for it came from long distances for I know, for I have taken their photographs."

"The comments I hear on the praise of Drecto are really remarkable. Many patients who suffered for years have been cured in a few weeks, cases I have in mind are, an elderly lady well known in this town and a sufferer for many years. A farmer from Hortonville, who said he "wouldn't take all the money in the world for what Drecto had done for him" and a building contractor is another who has spoken very highly of it to me.

"I could very easily take a day to name all the people I know who have taken Drecto with good results."

Mr. H. W. C. Marr, Baker, the well-known Export from the Drecto Laboratories now at Schlitz Bros. Downtown Drug Store, is telling scores of people every day how to take Drecto for best results. Go to see him.

Such Flavor

as this comes only in real Quaker Oats

THE price you pay for substitutes is the same as for the genuine Quaker Oats. The difference is in the flavor. And flavor, above all things, is important in oats.

That rich and tasty Quaker flavor is the result of some 50 years' milling experience. Once you taste it, you are spoiled for ordinary oats.

That is why millions demand the Quaker brand—why you should accept no other.

Quaker milling, too, retains much of the "bulk" of oats. And that makes laxatives less often needed. Protein, carbohydrates, and vitamins and "bulk" are thus combined to make Quaker Oats an excellently "balanced" food.

Get Quaker Oats today. Grocers have two kinds: Quick Quaker, which cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes, and Quaker Oats.

Automobile Insurance

Several serious accidents in this community before the 1927 driving season has barely started have emphasized the absolute necessity of automobile insurance.

Any accident in which you are involved may cost you money even though the accident is not the result of your negligence it may be necessary to secure legal assistance to prove it.

If you have driven without insurance and have been careful [and lucky] now is the time to stop playing with fate. Your home, your property, your savings are always at stake.

What Quality of Insurance Do You Buy?

The average person can easily be misled on insurance because there is no way to test it until it's too late. Any kind is good enough if nothing happens, then the best is none too good. There is Quality to insurance just as there is in tires, tools or any merchandise, but it's harder to determine. Hundreds of people each year are fooled by attractive promises of Mutuals or cut rate Companies who end up in failure, heavy assessments and unpaid claims. Of course the premium is lower; otherwise no one would buy it, but why speculate on a contract which may be worth $10,000 or more to you?

An insurance policy is purely a service contract plus security offered:

We are here on the job to take care of you when your accident comes, backed by a Company with Fifty Million Dollars of Assets. No uncertainty. No assessments possible.

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS AUTHORIZED TO INSTALL LIGHTS

Do Away With Bids in Order to Hurry Improvement of Street

Neenah—An ordinance providing for an ornamental lighting system on N. Commercial-st from Wisconsin-ave to Water-st on the north, under supervision of the Board of Public Works, was adopted unanimously Monday evening at a special meeting of the city council.

This action was taken to avoid delaying improvement of the street which would result if bids were sought. The ordinance gives the board of public works full power to designate the style of pole to be erected. The poles will be encased in ornamental 600-candle power lamps. There will be 25 of these poles. The approximate cost of installation will be $10,000. The Valley Construction company of Neenah will do the work.

The committee on police and health was empowered to trade in the present motorcycle used by the police department toward the purchase of a new one. A bid of $150 has been received by the committee.

The Fourth ward playground will be equipped with a fence and backstop for the small children for playing ball. The two aldermen from the Fourth ward were authorized to have the work completed.

POLICE DISCOUNT STORY OF HOLDUP MONDAY AFTERNOON

Suspects Are Questioned by Officers but Are Not Identified

Menasha—The story of an attempted holdup at M. A. Exley's meat market at 3:30 Monday afternoon was discounted at the police station shortly before noon following a thorough investigation by Chief of Police James Lyman and members of the department.

Reports were circulated that two strangers entered the meat market and that one of them asked for some paper. Two salesmen also entered the meat market just as Mr. Exley turned to put change in the cash register. Seeing that the purchaser had drawn a revolver from his pocket and was about to level it on Mr. Exley, one of the salesmen gave the hand a kick which threw him over a stool. The revolver dropped to the floor.

The men picked up the revolver and disappeared in an automobile. No effort was made to hold them or to notify the police. A member of the department was on duty near the meat market at the time. Mr. Exley did not know what occurred when his back was turned. He saw the stranger had been pushed over the stool and heard something drop on the floor, but did not see the revolver. He did not pay any attention to the incident and that was his reason for not reporting it to the police.

John Kosloske, who was on the side walk outside, saw what happened through the window and taking it for a holdup spread the alarm. Later when the police department was notified they combed the city for suspects and finally arrested Virgil Sorenson and George Gohrke of Chicago, employed in a local industrial plant for a week. They admitted having bought some paper at the meatmarket in which to wrap up their laundry to send home, but claimed they had no revolver.

At 10:30 Mr. Exley was called to the police station to identify the men, but was unable to do so. He said instantly when they were brought before him that they were not the guilty ones and could not recall having seen them in his meatmarket. He said they might have been there for he sold paper to several parties whom he supposed wanted to wrap up fish.

Kosloske was next called to identify the men and was unable to do so, and in answer to questions put to him by Chief of Police Lyman said the report he circulated was what Mr. Exley told him. Mr. Exley denied having told him anything.

U. S. WARDS OFF BORER ADVANCING INTO HEART OF CORN BELT

INVASION OF PEST ALREADY IS BEYOND ILLINOIS BOUNDARY

Eight Different Types of Parasites Imported to Destroy Enemy Insect

Washington—Corn belt farmers are warily plowing their fields and planting seed for a new crop that they fear will invite the progress of their most dreaded enemy—the European corn borer.

This year witnesses the greatest concentration of money and effort to check this pest in its advance into the heart of the corn belt. To the $10,000,000 fund just appropriated by Congress, the states affected are adding more millions for its eradication. Federal and state entomologists are trying new means to fight the borer. They have imported eight different types of parasites known to be hostile to the corn borer, and are depending especially on one insect that has already killed off as high as 8 per cent of the borers in some areas.

Guards are stationed at the boundaries of the enemy. In less than ten years it has spread its destruction from a rather small district in Massachusetts and one in New York to the entire area around Lake Erie, on southward into West Virginia and westward past the Illinois border. It is advancing along a 650-mile front, over a territory well past 50,000 square miles in extent.

Most of the entire province of Ontario has succumbed to the pest, and surrounding provinces where corn is grown are threatened. In the United States the corn borer has eaten its way well through New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan and Indiana and into Illinois and West Virginia, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Maine and Rhode Island and all so deeply infested, but the insect's advance there is in no proportion with its rapidity in the middle west.

The corn borer is traveling by land, water and air into the unfettered regions, so that no matter what precautions are taken by government officials and farmers it is practically impossible to check it completely. The parasites and education of the farmers in the proper method of corn stalk disposal and other precautions will, it is hoped, slow up the borer's progress.

Last year the borer passed to the south of the great Ohio water-shed, affording it quick and easy transportation by water to the south. The greatest spring floods, it is feared, have hastened its advance in that direction.

FEEDS ON OTHER CROPS
By land the insect has crept from field to field, and by air the matured moth has flown considerable distances into virgin territory.

Corn isn't its only fodder. In fact, entomologists say it will eat as many as 200 different crops of economic value, including cotton and sugar cane.

The seriousness of this menace may be realized from the fact that as many as a million borers in the dangerous caterpillar stage may be present in an acre of land. In this stage the insect bores it way upward through the stalk and into the ear, ruining the plant. It remains in the stubble over the winter and goes into the growing plants in spring and summer.

To control its advance, the corn must be planted as late as possible in earlier maturing varieties with heavy stalks.

Good soil management, rotation of crops and efficient practices must be followed. Plowing must be clean and deep, and at harvest time the stalks must be cut close to the ground and buried up.

GUERNSEY BREEDERS TO HOLD PICNIC NEXT JUNE

COMPLETES HOG PEN

Black Creek—William Schultz, route 1, has completed a new hog pen on a stone foundation.

Green Bay—A. W. Fox, manager of the Fern-Dell Dairy farm, recently invited the State Guernsey Breeders' association to hold its next convention on the Fern-Dell farm. The invitation has been accepted by the association and the convention will be held in June on a date soon to be announced. Mr. Fox is now planning a program for the convention.

As this convention promises to be one of the big events in the history of the dairy industry of Brown-co. Mr. Fox requests the people of Green Bay and the cattle men of Brown-co join hands to make it the biggest possible success.

CONSIDER REBUILDING BEAR CREEK FACTORY

Bear Creek—The Herman Hall cheese factory, route 1, was destroyed by fire on Thursday, April 7. The fire started around the chimney where neighbors caught sight of the flames and set up an alarm that reached the ears of the cheese maker at work. With the aid of telephones, a large crowd of fire fighters were quickly assembled. The fire had gained too much headway to be extinguished but the firemen saved all movable machinery and stock in storage. The day's milk and some cheese was lost. The building and contents were insured. The owner is considering rebuilding the factory.

Calumet-Co 'Clover King' Busy Building Huge Barn

BY W. F. WINSEY
Special Farm Writer
Forest Junction—Arthur Stanelle, route 1, known as the "Clover Seed King of Calumet-co," started building the largest dairy barn in this vicinity last summer, managed to have the building inclosed last fall and expects to have it completed the coming August.

The barn, on a concrete foundation, is the shape of the letter "T". The main part is 40 feet by 102 feet and the other part 22 feet by 100 feet. The posts are 16 feet long and the hip posts 26 feet long. From the floor to the peak of the roof the distance is 40 feet. The stable is 36 feet by 100 feet. The barn is of the hip roof type and timber frame.

Before Mr. Stanelle began building operations, he raised the level of the site of the barn with 800 cubic yards of earth and to do this quickly, he bought a loader and invited his friends

SHARP DECLINES IN BUTTER TRADE

Cheese Trading Slow, Hog Receipts Decrease, Cattle Market Advances

Madison—(P)—The characteristic feature of the week's butter, cheese and livestock markets was the sensitivity of the buyers toward "any factor that would have resulted in increased prices," although such increases were justified by the condition of the supply and demand, the weekly review of the state department of markets says.

"Buyers felt that the prices have reached the high point and consequently were operating cautiously, taking an attitude of watchful waiting," the review says. It continues: "The important reason for this attitude was the fear in the butter market, of curtailment of the supply on account of the high prices. As a result the past week was featured by sharp declines except one day in the past week when supply and demand proved a stronger factor than sentiment and prices advanced. Medium and undergrades are in light offering while the supplies of top scores are in excess of demand. Centralized car market trading was slow. Butter prices are around 9 cents higher than last year at this time.

"Trading on the cheese markets was slow and restricted to small volume. The general sentiment is similar to that of the butter markets and finds expression in the negative attitude of demand curtailment anything that may cause an increase.

"Hog receipts continued to decrease but supplies at the close of the week were still above the corresponding period a year ago. Shipping demand showed a marked curtailment and net price changes which followed resulted in a narrowing of the price spread between heavy butchers and light lights, the former advancing to 15 to 25 cents while the latter closed 10 to 15 cents lower as compared with a week ago. Hog prices are about $1.20 lower than last year at this time.

"General price advances featured the cattle market. The supply compared with the previous week and the corresponding period last year, decreased and the shortage on some classes became acute. Shipping demand was broad. The result of these stimulating influences was a net increase of 25 to 40 cents as compared with the previous week. Cattle prices were about $1.50 higher than last year at this time.

"Sheep supplies were moderate. Slight increases in receipts were noted. Prices advanced during the forepart of the week but declined toward the latter. At the close fat lambs were from 25 to 40 cents higher and fat sheep around 50 cents higher than at the close of the previous week.

to bees. He used three teams on the loader and several teams to haul the dirt. In this way he moved 120 loads of dirt a day.

Mr. Stanelle tore down his old barn in March from which he got most of the square timber for his new barn, and had the wall of the new barn completed in June. The carpenters began work on July 12 and quit for the season on Oct. 20.

In the construction of the barn, 90,000 feet of lumber, and 80,000 shingles were used. For the floors in the basement, 160 barrels of cement and 180 cubic yards of gravel will be required.

The barn has a storage capacity of 150 tons of hay and straw to thresh 3,000 bushels of grain. The basement will contain 27 stanchions for cows, 5 horse stalls, 1 box stall for horse, 1 bull pen 2 cow pens, 1 calf pen and 1 pen for other young stock.

One reason for Mr. Stanelle being dubbed the "Alsike Clover Seed King of Calumet-co" is that he raises and seeds more alsike clover seed than any other grower in the county. He is making a specialty of raising clover seed. The extent of his activities in this specialty is illustrated in the fact that last season, he threshed 167 bushels of clover seed and sold his crop for $2,600. Two years ago, he threshed 248 bushels of seed that brought $2,450 and three years ago 378 bushels that he sold for $3,600. This year as his clover looks good, he expects to thresh at least 300 bushels of seed.

After threshing, he mixes his clover chaff with silage and feeds it to his dairy cows and says it makes a splendid roughage.

Clover seed raising is one of Mr. Stanelle's principal industries. The other is dairying with a herd of 50 cattle.

3,000 VISITORS AT MONTHLY PIG FAIR

Sale of Farm Livestock and Materials at Auction Reaches Total of $4,200

De Pere—An estimated crowd of 3,000 out-of-town residents attended the pig fair on Thursday, where farmers at private sale or auction sold everything they brought to the fair to sell and business men made record-breaking sales.

There is no way yet determining the amount of private sales of farmers but the sales of farm stuff at auction amounted to $4,200. "It was one of the biggest days the business men of De Pere ever had," said one observer. The soft drink parlors ran out of pop and lunches early in the day and found it difficult to replenish their stock and the motion picture houses were filled to capacity with people entertained by the business men.

In the morning little pigs were offered at from $5 to $8, but did not move very fast. In the afternoon, the owners appealed to Frank Van Weghel, the auctioneer, to sell the surplus left over from private sales at auction. He consented and the pigs sold rapidly until the stock was exhausted.

HOG DISEASES AND TREE SPRAY RINGS DISCUSSED AT MEET

Methods of Eliminating Parasites from Litters Described at New Franken

BY W. F. WINSEY
Special Farm Writer
New Franken—Fifty persons attended an apple tree spraying and hog disease meeting of farmers here Wednesday evening, conducted by J. N. Kavanaugh, agricultural agent of Brown-co, and J. J. Brandt, extension man of the department of animal husbandry, agricultural college, University of Wisconsin. Mr. Kavanaugh talked the formation of spray rings and the equipment of the spray rings in the town of Morrison and at Pulaski and finished with a discussion of ton litters. He mentioned the fact the state ton litter contest last was won by Mr. Spence, near this village and that he looked for several entries in the state for litter contest this season from Brown-co. Mr. Brandt talked on ringworms and their prevention in pigs and illustrated his talk with movie pictures.

According to Mr. Brandt the eggs of the roundworm are preserved in the filth of hog pens, hog wallows, and hog pastures. The little pigs get the eggs from the dirt on its mother's body soon after farrowing time or from rooting in the pen, manure or pasture. The worms grow rapidly from microscopic size to twelve inches in length. From the mouth of the infected pig, the egg or worm passes part way through the digestive tract of the pig and enters the circulatory system from the digestive tract. It is carried by the blood to the liver, heart and lungs. When it reaches the latter organs it causes a sort of pumping of the body of the pig known as "thumps." From the lungs, the pest passes through the windpipe to back again to the mouth. From the mouth, it again starts through the digestive tract where it grows to twelve inches in length, devours the feed of the pig, produces eggs by the millions which are expelled from the body of the hog and serve to infect small pigs in the pastures and yards. On dissection some of the worst cases of infected hogs contain struggling masses of round worms. The effect of the pest, is to injure, stunt or kill the hog infected.

CURE IS LABORIOUS
A cure is possible, but it involves individual treatment and is, therefore, laborious and expensive. For these reasons prevention is considered by hog breeder better than cure.

The prevention roundworm infection involves a general cleaning up of hog lots and pens. The farrowing pens are thoroughly scrubbed with boiling water and lye. The hot water kills the germs and the lye loosens up the filth so that it can be removed. Before the sow farrows or is placed in

HILBERT IS CENTER OF CATTLE SHIPPING

Special to Post-Crescent

Hilbert—This town has earned the reputation of being one of the largest shipping points in the state for calves, springers and other dairy cows. Coming from one place or another, buyers are always in this vicinity picking up dairy cattle for their customers at home. The principal destination of shipments are New Orleans, the southern part of Wisconsin and Mexico. One car of cows was shipped last week to C. J. Bane, Watertown, and another car on Friday to E. A. Thomas, Oconomowoc. Thomas DeLanty, a former telegraph operator at the station here, is the buyer. He keeps two men on the road buying cows and from 30 to 40 cows on hand so that he may fill orders promptly. In 1926, he shipped 92 cars of cows and is now shipping two cars a week. "It would seem that in time we might clean up the surplus supply of dairy cows in this vicinity," said Mr. DeLanty, "but thus far as soon as one car goes out another car is collected."

ERECT MILK RECEIVING STATION; COST, $75,000

Center Valley—Surveyors began work, Wednesday morning, near the dairy station, laying out a siding in anticipation of the immediate erection of a new milk receiving station by the Murphy and Ward Dairy company, Chicago.

The new building will be one-story brick on a concrete foundation, 40 by 100 feet, equipped with the best of modern machinery and electric power. It will cost in the neighborhood of $75,000, will have a daily capacity of 120,000 pounds of milk, and will be completed in a month or six weeks.

COMPLETES FARM HOME

Menasha—Sylvester Muehl is finishing a new farm residence on which he started construction work last summer. The new building is a story and a half, is provided with running water heated with a furnace, and soon may be equipped with electric lights. It is modern in every particular.

The pen, her body is thoroughly washed with soap and warm water. The litter is not permitted to enter the old hog lot, but is taken to covers in a new pasture. All the litters are kept free from infection in this way. As an additional precaution, against roundworm infection, the old hog lot is plowed and a crop rotation practiced.

Mr. Brandt illustrated all the stages of the growth and development of the roundworm with movie pictures, its double circuit through the body of the hog, its effect upon the hog, infected and healthy droves, filthy and sanitary hog yards and the progress of breeders from filthy to sanitary conditions in hog lots in their effort to stamp out the round worm or to prevent possible infection from it.

CLUB WORK GROWS FAST AMONG BOYS, GIRLS OF DANE-CO

More Than 700 Have Engaged in Activities During Past Two Years

BY W. F. WINSEY
Special Farm Writer
Dane-co is making some long strides in the extension and development of boys' and girls' clubs in rural communities. For the past two years, one report states, more than 700 boys and girls have done some kind of club work in the county.

To help obtain quality work from the club members in Dane-co, a committee of 100 persons interested in what boys and girls are doing and more interested still in what they may do if given the opportunity and intelligently directed, has been appointed. An executive committee, the members of which are competent specialists, is working with the leader in the organization of clubs this season and in directing the work of members and each club as a whole.

ORGANIZE CALF CLUB
These committees are now organizing the boys and girls in calf clubs, pig clubs, lamb clubs, poultry clubs, seed clubs garden clubs, canning, baking sewing and fat stock clubs. Premiums in all these lines are offered by the county fair and by the junior livestock show at Madison next fall.

In the animal clubs, the entrant buys the animal from his father or some other breeder and raises it, keeping records of feed, care and so forth and makes these records a part of his exhibit at the fairs. Afterwards, he sells the animal, or with it starts a herd of his own. It is said that two of the best herds of hogs in Dane-co were started through club work of a young member of each family. The boy or girl gets any profit that premium or the sale of the animal brings.

In hand work as baking sewing or canning, the girl does her work under the supervision of the club leader and her mother. A large number of experts has been developed in the past two years among club members.

The chief benefits of club experience to boys or girls, however, is that they learn in club work how to do things, keep records of what they do and find out the better way of meeting and mixing with people. Getting whatever good they can out of club work, there are now 600,000 members of boys' and girls' clubs in America. One hundred and nineteen of these members are doing work in Brown-co.

FOREST JUNCTION MAN REMODELS FARM HOME

Special to Post-Crescent

Forest Junction—Henry Bloy, route 1, is remodeling his farm residence which includes a new basement, a new sun parlor, a complete change on the inside of the house, lathing and plastering, the installation of electric lights, running water, bath room, furnace and the resurfacing of the house outside.

The past seven years, Mr. Bloy has been raising purebred Holstein dairy cattle. At the beginning of that period, he bought six purebred Holstein heifer calves of Edward Yolin, Watertown, but before that purchase he had purebred sires in his herd, five years. These calves were the foundation of his present herd of 20 purebreds. In all he has 30 head in his herd and is now milking 16 cows out of a total of 29 cows. Mr. Bloy is using a milking machine, is feeding 5 calves whole milk and selling 350 pounds of milk daily, testing 3.5 from the 16 cows. In the flush period of the year when he is milking all his cows, he gets from 700 to 800 pounds of milk daily.

THE U. S. POLICY IN CHINA

Events in China are gradually having the effect of shaping a definite policy by the powers. A note protesting against the anti-foreign rioting at Nanking, which is equivalent to an ultimatum, has been handed to the Cantonese government by the representatives of the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan. Apology for the killing of foreigners and destruction of property is demanded, together with satisfaction in damages and guarantees of protection in the future. It is significant that the United States has united with the other powers in this course. Our pacifists will whimper and our radicals yell, but it is a step that is more than justified by the circumstances and the situation. The United States is cooperating with Japan and European nations solely for the protection of the lives of foreigners and their legitimate rights. It has no thought of engaging in war with China, nor of associating itself with the powers to preserve concessions, unilateral treaties, extra-territoriality or anything offensive to the Chinese, all of which the president has made clear. It would like to get its nationals out of China, but until they are out it insists upon giving them what security it can and of holding the Chinese authorities responsible for attacks upon them. How far the concert of the other powers may go is their affair. It is conceivable that one step may lead to another, and that they might become involved in a serious military collision with China.

The government at Washington has kept a level head throughout the Far Eastern crisis, and it shows no signs of losing its head. It is doing what any self-respecting government should and must do. It has no prejudices and no ulterior motives toward the Chinese. It wishes them success in setting up a free and responsible government and in shaking loose the oppression of foreign domination. Its course is clear and above-board, and it is certain to have the approval of the American people, who will also support its efforts to save the lives of Americans and to hold the Chinese to strict accountability for their destruction.

The real menace in the orient is Russia. It has laid the ground for armed intervention in China by its break with the northern government at Peking. Undoubtedly it is the real provocateur. The closing of its embassy at Peking should occasion no remorse to Chang Tso-lin and no real discomfiture to the powers. It merely means the shutting off of one more avenue of hostile propaganda. It may be that the soviet is put in the position of having to call a hand it does not dare to call.

PROHIBITION NOT AN ISSUE

Senator Carter Glass tells Al Smith of New York to lay off the prohibition question if he wants to be nominated for president. Mr. Glass says in effect that neither the Democratic party nor any other party can win an election on a proposal to repeal the eighteenth amendment. We have had this warning from other quarters. Only recently Mr. McAdoo delivered himself of an opinion on the subject that will not soon be forgotten. Mr. Glass is one of the shining lights of the Democratic party. He is probably as level-headed a statesman as it possesses. We would respect his judgment if we were in Mr. Smith's place. We agree with Mr. Glass that prohibition should be kept out of party politics as much as possible. It is wholly unlikely that the country will elect a president next year on this issue. If the Democrats have nothing more to offer than a wet platform and a wet candidate for president, they might as well subsidize and save the expense of a national convention.

The other night in Boston Senator Borah and Nicholas Murray Butler debated prohibition. It was a Republican event, sanctioned by the party. It may be a matter of surprise, but Mr. Borah got the decision of the judges. Evidently the Republicans are not seriously afraid of either the repeal or modification movements.

SEAWAY NEGOTIATIONS

The United States is about to commence negotiations with Canada looking to the creation of a joint agency for the construction of the St. Lawrence seaway. The war department has been working on the technical phases of the project, while Secretaries Kellogg and Hoover in conjunction with the president are considering the definite terms of the treaty. It looks, therefore, as though steps toward a realization of the undertaking would soon be taken.

News from Canada is to the effect that the Dominion government is ready to take up the negotiations and is favorable to the enterprise on the broad lines and terms heretofore tentatively discussed. The only possibility of differences, and of protracted negotiations, lies in the recent announcement that Canada has under advisement a linking up of reciprocity with the waterway treaty. Canada feels that existing trade barriers between the two countries ought to be materially modified, and that to do so would serve the commercial, manufacturing and agricultural interests of both nations. Tariff moderates in this country are inclined to the Canadian view, while of course the extremists and reactionaries will oppose it.

However, we can see no good reason why Canada should not take the occasion to link up her desire for freer trade relations with the joint construction of this great commercial highway. While Canada will benefit from the waterway, the major benefits accrue to the United States and the principal demand for the connecting of the Great lakes with the Atlantic comes from the United States. Canada may therefore consistently ask for commercial concessions, and it is to be hoped she will do so for the promotion of better relations all around and the economic good of both countries.

A CRIME CONVENTION

President Coolidge and Attorney General Sargent are considering the advisability of calling a national crime conference in the near future. The exact nature of the questions which the conference would consider and the agencies and organizations to be invited have not as yet been deliberated, since the project is but in the formative stage. The proposal for such a convention recalls the activity during the 1925 convention of the American Prison association, at which a committee was appointed to see what could be done to bring together all national organizations in any way related to the study of crime and criminals. It is due to this committee, which was headed by Amos Butler of Indianapolis, and which was reappointed in 1926, that the present move for a national crime conference was taken.

The criminal world is organized and it is high time we organized the law enforcers in such a way that a unified program may be put into effect against the lawless element that is menacing us on every hand. Gradually the lawless element is increasing the efficiency of its organization. National and international are the ramifications of the underworld. National and state boundaries are no barriers to the crook and the criminal. They need be no barriers for those charged with the administration of the law if those interested in this phase of the matter can be brought together and properly organized.

OLD MASTERS

I know not whether laws be right,
Or whether laws be wrong;
All that we know who lie in jail
Is that the wall is strong;
And that each day is like a year,
A year whose days are long.
But this I know, that every law
That men have made for Man,
Since first Man took his brother's life,
Has built with bricks of shame,
And straws the wheat and saves the chaff
With a most evil fan.
This too I know—and wise it were
If each could know the same—
That every prison that men build
Is built with bricks of shame,
And bound with bars lest Christ should see
How men their brothers maim,

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician And Author
Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

NATURE'S SWEET RESTORER

Many ponderous volumes have been written by learned authors about sleep, yet sleep is still at most baffling physiological phenomenon. Any and all theories offered to account for sleep fall when applied to the stubborn paradoxes which seem to spring up and bar the way of the explorer who would map the realm of the unconscious.

The common adage for the thirsty, heat for the cold, is about as true as most classical wise-cracks are. If one is in need of restoration, or hungry, or thirsty or in want of warmth, to be sure it is easier to pass the time until the want is satisfied in sleeping, if one can sleep under such circumstances. But sleep itself confers none of these boons, not even the relief of fatigue.

Physiology teaches that an individual who is greatly fatigued by a strenuous or severe physical effort will more quickly recover if he remains awake though at rest than he will if he goes to sleep. Practical experience teaches the athlete that it is better to rest without sleeping immediately after a hard game or a contest. This is probably due to the fact that in sleep the respiration and pulse are slower, the blood pressure lower and the excretion of acid products of muscular activity is therefore slowed up. Far from restoring energy, sleep alters the ratio between the intake and the output of energy, slowing the output so that the intake has a chance to catch up with it.

As far as the activity of the mind is concerned, physiology does not find that mental effort involves any considerable use or expenditure of energy, and an individual gains little or nothing by losing consciousness when he is resting after a hard effort. For this reason the brain worker requires less sleep than the man who works with his muscles, less rest, for he has less recuperating or repairing to do.

There is diminished flow of blood through the brain during sleep. The blood flow through the brain is normally regulated indirectly by the circulation in other parts of the body. If you find yourself "dopy" you probably need some general exercise to clear your head. Still, the famous British physiologist, believes the regulation of the blood flow in the brain is effected indirectly through the vasomotor control of the great splanchnic area in the abdomen and chest. Howell, the eminent American physiologist, believes the regulation of the blood flow in the brain, at least for the normal occurrence of sleep, is effected mainly through variations in the skin circulation. Professor Hill would probably advise you to sleep on a comfortably full stomach. Professor Howell would probably advise you to use a foot warmer. I think both of these physiologists are right and I should advise you to take a bedtime lunch of whatever you like within reason and if your feet are cold use a hot flatiron or an electric pad or your sleeping partner's back.

Although the way in which nature brings about this remarkably regular period of inactivity is inscrutable, scientific investigation of the phenomenon has taught us much about sleep that every one should know. I purpose to tell in these talks what every one should know about sleep.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Rhinornitis of the Feet

Several of the girls in our swimming class are troubled with a peeling of the skin of the feet, especially between the toes, and a great deal of itching and irritation of the skin over the top of the feet. It is something possibly catching? They complain that their feet sweat too much too (Miss E. S.).

Answer—Perhaps it is a kind of fungus infection, a type of ringworm which occurs on the feet of persons walking barefoot about in public gyms, slum or swimming pool, the infection passing from one person to another in particles of skin dropped on the floor and picked up by the next bare foot that happens to touch it. An ointment which has relieved many cases is made of one dram each of salicylic acid and mercuric salicylate, 2 1/2 drams each of bismuth subnitrate and oil of eucalyptus, and two ounces each of petrolatum and lanolin. This may be applied to the affected portions of skin at night. If there are not six (6) portions in the formula the printer has probably mislaid one of them. Once I tried to publish a recipe for a fool-proof cough medicine. It contained three or four things, which the printers kindly included in the piece, but it called for a point of water, and this the printers omitted for lack of space or something. I am smarting yet from the letters I received from folk who tried to take a dose of my frightful concoction. Fortunately it was perfectly harmless, but certainly it made 'em mad!

LOOKING BACKWARD

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Tuesday, April 15, 1902

A new rule pertaining to the senior class of Lawrence university stated that seniors would be exempt from examinations at the conclusion of the spring term, providing that they maintained an average of 85 percent in their class work throughout the term. Each year a custom for several years at Lawrence university to exempt all senior students from spring examinations.

Fire early that morning totally destroyed the Andrew Lind boat building shop on Water-st and badly damaged the stock and machinery of the Fox River Valley Knitting Co. in the adjoining building. The origin of the fire was unknown.

The Fox River Valley Gas and Electric Co. had filed an amendment to its articles of incorporation increasing its capital stock to $100,000. The stock was divided into 4,000 shares.

TEN YEARS AGO

Tuesday, April 10, 1917

W. O. Clark, 763 Center-st, the previous Saturday received word of the death of his son, Elmer Clark, who was wounded while in battle in France the previous November. Mr. Clark left Appleton about 10 years previous to join the United States navy. Later he left the service and went to Australia where he became a citizen and engaged in the engineering business. At the outbreak of the European war, he enlisted among the troops that landed on the Gallipoli where he remained for some time before being transferred to the western fighting front.

The American liner New York struck a mine the previous night while outside Liverpool bar, but all the passengers were safe, according to word received from Connaught Washington at Liverpool. The New York was a steel-hulled steamer of 10,728 tons and was owned by the International Mercantile Marine Co., the American line. The New York was the third armed passenger steamship to sail. The passenger list carried seven Americans, 22 first, 22 second and 21 third class passengers.

Twenty-five enlistments were received by the recruiting detail at Armory immediately following the loyalty parade the previous day. More than 15,000 persons took part in the parade, which was said to be the greatest demonstration of loyalty ever seen in this part of Wisconsin. The parade was 25 blocks in length.

Seven hundred men, women and children took part in the conclusion of Attorney W. A. Hayes' address at the Methodist church the previous afternoon and pledged themselves to the help of President Wilson and America.

BIG BUSINESS

Washington, D. C. — Big business is big. There are now ten corporations in the United States that rank in the billion dollar class. Their aggregate assets approximate $15,000,000,000. The market value of their securities as rated by a financial expert is somewhat in excess of $13,000,000,000. The value of their physical properties is around $8,500,000,000.

Their gross sales or revenues for the last year were in excess of $3,600,000,000. Their net profits in the aggregate were slightly less than $1,000,000,000 and the dividends they paid were approximately half that amount. They are owned by 1,015,003 stockholders, the odd three being all the stockholders there are in the Ford Motor Company. Almost a million and a half workers are employed by these corporations and their payrolls, while not authoritatively compiled, have been estimated to exceed $2,500,000,000 annually.

Five of these giants of the financial world are railroads — the southern Pacific, the Pennsylvania, the New York Central, the Union Pacific, and the Atchafalpa, Topeka & Santa Fe. Two of the others have to do with transportation — General Motors and the Ford Company — and another deals in communications, the American Telephone Company. The other two are the United States Steel Corporation and the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, both of which are closely allied with transportation and communications.

Richest of them all is the Steel Corporation, with assets of $2,446,000,000 and physical properties valued at $1,622,000,000. Its gross sales or revenues are not so large as those of either the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey or the General Motors Corporation and its net profits are not so great as those of the latter.

BILLION DOLLAR ANNUAL BUSINESS

The oil and motor mammoths both do an annual business in excess of a billion dollars, while the steel trust has to do with only $928,000,000. The net profits of steel are $117,000,000 as compared with an estimated $180,000,000 for General Motors. As a dividend payer steel ranks below both the telephone company and General Motors, with $51,000,000 as compared with $81,000,000 and $26,000,000 for the other two, respectively. No one knows what dividends the Ford Motor Company pays.

The market value of the telephone company exceeds that of any of the others, being a bit above the two billion mark, exceeding that of its nearest rival, the corporation, by almost $300,000,000.

In the value of its physical properties, however, the telephone company ranks a bad tenth, with only $107,000,000, whereas the steel corporation has almost ten times that and the Southern Pacific, the Pennsylvania, and the New York Central are well above the billion level. It lags last in annual revenues or gross sales, also, with $180,000,000, but it is fourth in net profits, yielding only to General Motors, U. S. Steel, and Standard Oil, and it the banner dividend payer of them all. It likewise ranks first in the number of stockholders, with 382,000, and in the number of its employees, with 293,000. It is the only one of the big business group, by the way, that has more stockholders than it has employees.

If all its subsidiaries were included it is stated that the telephone company would outrank even the steel corporation in the value of its assets, with almost $3,000,000,000 as of January 1, 1926, and far more than that as of to-day. Since its physical properties are valued at less than a fifth of that amount it is obvious that his company gets into the billion dollar class because of its earnings capacity.

It is rather surprising to learn that the Southern Pacific Railroad is the only corporation aside from the steel trust that has assets totaling more than $2,000,000,000. This is due, it is explained, to the fact that this railroad owns a vast amount of land and that no inconsiderable part of its domain is oil land.

PENNSYLVANIA RANKS THIRD

The Pennsylvania ranks third with assets of $1,819,000,000, and third in the number of stockholders and employees. The New York Central stands fifth with respect to assets, and the steel corporation and the Southern Pacific exceed it in the value of its physical properties.

The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey is the daddy of them all when it comes to volume of business. It has gross sales or revenues each year of $1,123,000,000. Its net profits are approximately ten per cent of that — $111,000,000 — and it disburses $34,000,000 in dividends to some 6,000 stockholders. General Motors makes an estimated net profit of $150,000,000, which is 18 per cent on its gross sales, and it ranks second in making stockholders believe in Santa Claus, its dividend disbursements being $70,000,000.

Just what the big companies do with their profits aside from paying dividends is not disclosed, but it is to be noted that while the ten billion-dollar companies are busy building up their empires, the ten billion-dollar companies are busy building up their empires.

See-Sawing On Broadway

By Gilbert Swan

New York— Scattered notes from an afternoon's ramble about Manhattan:

Those outfits for European travel in the Fifth Avenue shop windows... couple of trunks and a handbag with a price mark of $1000... Any one of us could make a three-month trip for that... And those accessories for travel... Few of them priced under $100... Kids today must have brief cases of the best leather... I often watch them marching to school, with these important looking leather bags, like lawyers going to court... I must be getting old....

Which reminds me: Whatever became of the little wooden pencil boxes and those straps we used to swipe from the suitcases to pack our books in?... Kids today must have brief cases of the best leather... I often watch them marching to school, with these important looking leather bags, like lawyers going to court... I must be getting old....

The sudden coming of life of the piers now that European travel grows heavier... Excited taxis want to get there and the trucks don't care to wait... Hundreds of people with the high flush of anticipation painting their cheeks... And hundreds more looking around as if for a lost child... Nearly everyone seems to have left their wits at home... Except the bored looking fat man who, they tell me, "goes over" every season for his firm. It's just like going to Chicago or Cleveland with him....

And, just along side the big liner, stands the same little barge I saw a year ago... It is sandwiched in between the sea giant and the next pier... And on its deck is the same neat little house, though the fresh paint of last summer has been swept into the mud-green of a brackish swamp... The skipper's wife still comes popping out of her cabin and pattering about the tiny yard space that the large cabin affords. There is still a sting in the wind and she wears one of those slate gray shawls you haven't seen since grandma's time... I mean your old grandma's time.... Not today's....

Grandma today, like as not, is down having her hair bobbed or her face lifted... And she's turned her old woolly shawl over to some antique store, where in time, it will be purchased for a high price by her granddaughter....

There's something cynically amusing about this revolving of the cycle from the sidewalk to the thousand fascinating little shops under the sidewalk and over the sidewalk you can see all the glass birds, the old ships, the old paper weights, the old china, the old chairs and the old prints that came from grandma's house... Grandma's house has been stripped from collar to garret and all through Connecticut, Massachusetts and the other New England states agents have been ransacking the old homesteads taking ships' lanterns and old furniture and knickknacks....

Here they all are on display in a Madison Avenue shop, to be hauled all over again to the sons and daughters of the oldsters and to be pointed to proudly in studies, mansions and apartments.... It's a funny old world.... GILBERT SWAN. (Copyright 1927, NEA Service, Inc.)

Queer Quirks of Nature

BY ARTHUR N. PACK

President, American Nature Ass'n.
This is the home of a colony of white-faced hornets. They build it of paper which they make by chewing up shreds of wood, an art known to them long before man learned it.

Inside their paper walls are tiers of cells like the honeycombs constructed by bees, save that they are made of the gray paper rather than of wax. These cells shelter the young hornets as 15,000 members when the summer's work is at its height. As in a bee swarm, there are females, males or drones, and workers in the group.

With the coming of cold weather, late in autumn, the paper house becomes a tomb. Most of the workers, all the drones and nearly all of the females die. A few of the younger females, however, find snug hiding places and hibernate for the winter.

In spring they come out, lay eggs that were fertilized the autumn before and so begin a new colony. The old paper house is discarded and a new one built each summer.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE GARRETT FOLSON is stabbed to death while swimming at Ocean Town, N. J.

Folson's bathing companions had been ROGER NEVILLE, a business partner; MRS. HELEN DARNABY and CARMELITA VALDON.

ANASTASIA FOLSON, eccentric and masterful sister of the dead man, arrives and takes command. At the inquest it is established that the death weapon was a pichag, an Oriental knife, and that it and its scabbard had been purchased on the boardwalk.

It is learned that one CROYDON SEARS is a fan of curious weapons. He admits buying two knives but not the pichag. Anastasia engages TITUS RIGGS, an architect, to work on the case. DAN PELTON, the dead man's nephew, arrives and is intrigued by some curious French dolls in Folson's room.

Croydon Sears sends for FLEMING STONE, famous detective. He tells him Folson had been black-mailing him and had been black-mailing him and had been black-mailing him.

Stone meets others of the circle, including NED BARON and his wife, MADELINE, and begins to work. He develops that Carmelita Valdon stole some letters from Folson's effects, thereby bringing suspicion on herself. Sears says that had he been the murderer the last weapon he would have restored to would have been one of his own knives.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XLII

Stone smiled at him affectionately. "I'm excluding Mr. Sears as a possible suspect," he said, "because he didn't do it. But the police are not so sure of that as I am, and so to prove my point I must find the real murderer."

"Who is," Sears appended, "the man who bought a bunch of junk at the auction room late in the evening the night before the murder?"

"And who," Anastasia broke in, "bought it for Carmelita Valdon. Oh, it wasn't necessary for her to go out and buy it herself. She is a woman who has others to do her underhand work. And I've listened to all you've said, Mr. Stone, and it all comes back to her. For who else knew in advance that my brother was coming down here? No one knew it except the Valdon crowd."

"That includes Roger Neville," said Stone, thoughtfully. "Has no breath of suspicion been wafted his way?"

"No," Tite Riggs said. "It hasn't. I've wondered why, but nobody seems to think of him in that way."

"Certainly not," snapped Miss Folson. "Roger Neville is no saint, but he and Garry were intimate friends."

They were fond of each other, and though they quarrelled now and then, they were really devoted. Why, they both made wills leaving large sums to the other. Had Roger died first Garry would have come into quite a fortune.

"Which he didn't need," suggested Stone.

"Oh no. My brother was a rich man. Well, Mr. Stone, I suppose it's too late for you to do anything further to-night. I hope you'll get busy in the morning and round up that Carmelita woman! Remember, she's about the only one in all Ocean Town who knew beforehand that my brother was coming down here."

With this parting bit of suggestion, Miss Folson went off to her own room, and the men remained for a few more words.

"My aunt is a strange personage," Pelton said, thoughtfully, "but she's nobody's fool. And her arguments against Mrs. Valdon are just plausible enough to catch the attention of the police if they are brought to their notice. So, Mr. Stone, while I don't ask you to ignore Aunt Anastasia's suspicions and suggestions, I do ask you to look into the matter yourself before you give it much publicity."

"I shall certainly do that, Mr. Pelton," Stone said. "And if it is of any comfort to you, and I dare say it is, I can tell you that I think there is so far very little evidence against Mrs. Valdon."

"Bless you for that!" said Dan Pelton so earnestly that Stone was touched. "Yes," he went on, noticing Stone's quick glance, "as my aunt says, I have fallen for that woman. To me she is a waif of fortune, a toy of fate, but not the scheming adventuress my aunt would make her seem. Nor is she a murderess! The very idea is unthinkable! But my uncle did have a hold over her; did have letters from her, and she did try to get them without the knowledge of the sensation-seeking police. Those things I know."

"What was in the letters or whether she did finally get them, I don't know. But they were here, in the suitcase, right on top, and they're not here now. I am frank, Mr. Stone, because I want the matter cleared up as well as my aunt does, and if you can get at the real truth, you can do away with all hint of suspicion of Mrs. Valdon."

Stone looked at him a little quizzically. "I had but two legitimate suspects," he said, with pretended ruefulness. "Sears here and Mrs. Valdon. If you deprive me of both, at one fell swoop, what, pray, am I to do?"

"Get the real one," said Tite Riggs, rising to go. "I can't do it; I haven't a glimmer of a notion what way to look, but I'll bet you manage it, Mr. Stone."

"I'll bet he does," agreed Pelton, rising to go. "I can't do it; I haven't a glimmer of a notion what way to look, but I'll bet you manage it, Mr. Stone."

but the anxious eyes of Croydon Sears did not echo their assurance. "I'll have a try at it," Stone told them. "But I don't mind admitting that at the present I've no evidence to work on, no clue to follow up, I'm all at sea."

"Then you're right on the spot," said Pelton, with a flush of his irrepresible gaiety, "for that's where the crime was committed!"

"A strange case," Stone said to Sears as they left the room and went toward their own apartments. "I've never before heard of a murder in the ocean. It is clever, I'll say that for it. Just think, Croy, no fingerprints, no clues left lying about no witnesses, no evidence to be drawn from the scene of this crime, and I feel sure the murderer thought there would be no weapon found. Why, there's nothing material to work on. Nothing to consider but the mental attitudes of the victim and his possible enemies. And of those I know almost nothing. Small wonder I'm all at sea!"

"True enough, old man. But for heaven's sake get me out of it! Do you know since you've come, and the thing is getting into shape as you see it, I'm more than ever certain my part in the matter must come out!"

"Probably not, Croy. But if it is necessary, you'll have to buck up and stand it. Better have the thing lanced than to let it fester."

"Yes, I know. And if it comes to that I'll stand up to it, of course. If it were not for Robin I'd make a clean breast of the whole matter, but the boy—"

"I know. Don't think about it at present. We'll likely get a new line on it all tomorrow. Big hotel, isn't it?"

"Yes, the Majusaca is one of the newest and finest on the beach. Well, here's your room: do get a little sleep."

Fleming Stones didn't require much sleep, but the sea air made for drowsiness, and he put in a good night's rest before he joined Croydon Sears at breakfast.

Robin was there, too, and Ned Barron, the girls having their breakfast in their rooms.

"Did the night bring any counsel?" Barron inquired his big voice toned down to a discreet pitch.

"Some," Stone returned, smiling. "But as I told Sears, I'm all at sea, unless I can get a straw to show which way the wind may, can or must be blowing."

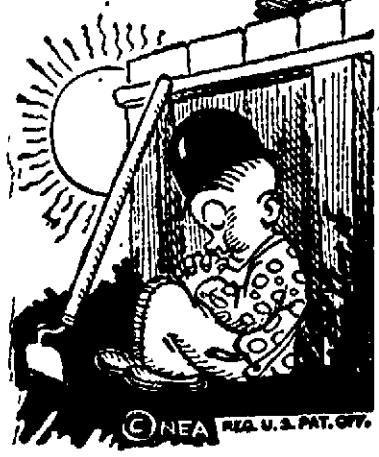

"You can't make bricks without straw, can you?" Robin smiled, and added, "I'll bet you've crossed my dad off the list of possibilities."

"I'll bet I haven't," Stone said. "But that's because he never was on it. And, it's a very small, faint list, anyway, however, we're only starting in, and no telling what favoring winds may blow us to port sooner than we expect."

"Who's at the top of your list?" Barron asked, his curiosity getting the better of him.

"A beautiful lady," Stone said. "Don't ask her name yet, for something tells me she'll be crossed off speedily. Indeed, so far it's all a blank mystery. I'm lost in a fog of hovering possibilities, none of which will take shape or tangibility. The only straight facts are that Garret Folson was stabbed and that somebody stabbed him."

"Couldn't have been suicide?" asked Barron.

"Not a chance. The doctors agree on that, and — by the way, you stood next to him. Can you see a suicide act?"

"No, indeed," Ned Barron shrugged his shoulders. "I was paying no attention to him, for I wanted to discourage his attempts at conversation, but as I look back and visualize the scene, I seem to see his two hands grasping the rope next to my own."

"You saw him go under?"

"No, for I was turned away, speaking to Madeline. But I saw and heard a commotion and next thing I knew they were carrying him out. I didn't notice it much, assuming it was a case of cramps. It happens so often."

"Well, your testimony doesn't help me any. You didn't know him at all?"

"Not at all. Never heard of him before that day. It was the merest chance that we stood near him."

"Well, it's a puzzle," sighed Stone. "I've nothing to work on but people's prejudices, a dagger and a few dolls! That doesn't seem much for an able-bodied detective!"

"Dolls!" exclaimed Robin, "what dolls?"

HEILIG TALKS ABOUT ENLARGING HORIZONS

"You are richer because your ability to serve others has increased," said Herb Heilig, director of the Appleton Vocational school and president of the Wisconsin Vocational Director's association, in an address at the graduation dinner for members of the first aid school of the Milwaukee Chamber of Commerce last Thursday evening at Milwaukee.

Mr. Heilig talked on Enlarging Horizons.

He explained that horizons in almost every field of life were growing with the progress of humanity. The reason is that the field of brotherhood might be enlarged. He said that the people of the world today considered themselves under obligations to other people of the world who 20 years ago were considered enemies.

Approximately 550 men and women attended the meeting. Of a total enrollment of about 1,500, 425 received diplomas. Approximately one third of the class were women.

FEW CHICKS ARE BEING SENT THROUGH MAILS

Baby chicks are slow in arriving at the postoffice but when the weather becomes milder it is expected the chicks will come in larger numbers. A few large shipments of 500 or 600 have come for single addresses but there have been no days when many boxes arrived for several clients. The young chickens can stand little cold and farmers and other poultry raisers probably are holding off until the temperatures are higher, it was said. No chicks have come through for local stores.

PEOPLE FEAR WORD "PAUPERISM"

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

THE death notice of a well-known minister recalls an incident that happened some years ago in his city where I was teaching school.

A little girl in my room had been absent for a number of days. The reports from the truant officer were vague and unsatisfactory, so I decided to visit the home myself and find out what was wrong.

I found the father, mother and two children living in a damp cold basement, the father and baby ill, no coal, no food—nothing.

"They were Scotch people of refinement and education, in fact the father had been a teacher in a boys' school in Edinburgh. They had come to this country, had a long run of sickness and trouble, savings had gone, and here they were on the verge of starvation."

I had difficulty in getting them to acknowledge that they had used the last bit of tea and bread. But gray faces and the cry of a hungry baby told their own story.

I wasn't very old and I didn't know how to play Samaritan, but I remember stopping at the corner grocery and sending in some things, telephoning for coal and getting a doctor.

Some friends became interested and helped me out. One of them later on got the father a position as clerk.

But in the meantime there were other serious matters to be considered. There were three months rent due and the furniture was to be taken. I wrote to the minister of the church. These people had attended (when they had clothes to go) and explained the situation. He came at once, put the matter into the hands of some of the church societies and the troubles of the poor family were over.

Here is the point: Why had this man and wife not gone to the public authorities and asked for charity? It was a question I asked over and over. They would only shake their heads and say, "We couldn't. We just couldn't."

It may have been the wrong kind of middle-class notion, but it was there. They would have died rather than ask for charity even for their children. Someway when it came from the teacher and the minister they could take it.

I often think we are too fearful of the word pauperism. Organized charity is necessary, but everyone knows of people to help. And is it a mistake? I think not.

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

THE rooster crowed on, merrily, then walked away. Quite proud was he. The Tinymites watched him strut along 'til he was out of sight. Then Scooty shouted, "Catch him quick, 'cause he has dropped his fiddle stick." And, as he shouted, he began to run with all his might.

The others followed right behind. Their plan, of course, was very kind. They shortly caught the rooster and then told him of his loss. Said Scooty, "Here's your fiddle stick." "If I had lost this thing," said he, "my master would be cross."

The bird then thanked the Tinymites and told them of some dandy sights that they could see if they would go on down the winding lane. "You'll find a baker man who makes the finest brand of tasty cakes," said he. And then the Tinymites were on their way again.

They shortly came upon a shop and Coppy said, "Here's where we stop. I think I smell some tempting food. Let's go inside and see." But, first they rapped upon the door and in about a minute more, a man appeared and said, "Hello! Come in and eat with me."

The Tinymites did, and oh, such food. They ate so much 'twas almost rude. This baker was the man who makes the dandy pat-a-cakes. "Go right ahead," said he, "and eat. 'Twill cost you nothing. This is my treat." Poor Coppy shortly shouted, "Oh, my poor old tummy aches!"

The man then said, "My work is play, and I bake cakes the live long day. I've always been a baker since a very tiny time. It's fun to bake such cakes as these. You know they are the kind that please. It's fun to do things which you know they're things that people like."

(The Tinymites meet little Bobby Shaftoe in the next story.)

SAINT AND SINNER

By Anne Austin

When Mary Kearney again took the stand on Thursday morning, Banning kept her until almost twelve o'clock before he permitted Churchill to begin his cross-examination of the state's star witness.

Banning's last line of questioning returned to the subject of Cherry's appearance when she had entered the downstairs hall of the Cluny mansion, admitted by Mary.

"Now, Mary, tell me as nearly as you can remember how Miss Cherry was dressed," Banning directed her.

"Well, sir, she was wearing a brown coat, and a little brown hat. Velours, as she calls it, and Mary answered as she smiled toward Cherry, who was regarding her with wide, grave, golden eyes.

"It was something, you have said, Mary. Didn't Miss Cherry wear a cloak over the coat?"

"No, sir, just a coat. She stepped right out of the closed coupe into the house, you know, and didn't have time to go out."

"Don't draw conclusions, Mary. Just answer the questions as they are asked. Now, Mary, did you notice whether Miss Cherry was wearing gloves?"

Banning hung his question with a meaning smile at the jury.

"Yes, sir, she was wearing gloves. Brown kid gloves, the gauntlet kind, with stitched cuffs. I noticed them particular because I've always wanted some just like that."

"Now, Mary, think hard," Banning admonished the Irish girl. "You have testified that you saw Miss Cherry in the grasp of Mr. Cluny, beating his breast with her hands. Did you notice whether her hands were gloved or bare?"

Cherry leaned toward Churchill, whispered excitedly: "I had taken my

Sports Call For New Division In Milady's Wardrobe
Bathing Suits Will Be Even More Scanty This Year

BY JULIA BLANSHARD

NEW YORK. "Boat, saddle, to house and away!"

That cry has always called for a special costume for the woman who answers it. But while riding habits have been recognized necessities for generations, special costumes for such sports as tennis, golf, and archery have arrived comparatively recently—with the new freedom of woman.

Such a splash have sports costumes made in the last few years that not only have they been developed in greater variety each season, but their informality, nonchalance and popularity have influenced the whole of women's wear this year.

FASHION'S DICTUM

Not one, but several costumes for every sport, is fashion's dictate this season. Fashioned becomingly, the tennis frock or golf costume is equally good on the porch of the country club, for afternoon wear sauntering around.

Helen Willis put the simple, two-piece white silk tennis frock on the map, by her graceful Patou models—sleeveless with knife-pleated skirts, short, full and light weight, made of rayon, rope de chine and other washable silks. This season sees variations of the two-piece costume. Necklines may be plain with smart stitchings or bindings of color or they may have collars. Skirts vary from plain wrap-arounds with matching bloomers to solid pleats.

Langley developed the model shown today. Fashioned from shimmering glassed silk, it has five rows of stitching across the front of the skirt to hold the pleats in place until they leave the hip-line and the bottom of the jumper and the sleeveless armholes feature the same stitching. A Bavarian embroidered jacket in gay red, orange, blue and black design tops the costume. A red tie and peasant's kerchief around the hair match the red of the jacket.

FIR TENNIS, WHITE
White is the preferred tennis costume this year, made from everything from heavy crepes to sheer white voiles. Vivid bandings around skirt hems, necklines, a vivid suede belt with matching tie, or embroidery in worsteds of gay shades live in the dresses. Each must have its jacket—of embroidered linen or crash or silk in a picturesque design. Fullness of skirt, shortness of length and utter absence of sleeves are the only requisites.

The knitted or Jersey costume leads in popularity for golf. Endless variety is shown in the stitches employed in the former—the shell stitch, lace patterns, open work, striped or ribbed designs. Color and design make the illustrated golf costume interesting and smart. It is a two-piece cream posy design, with a depressed diamond chain stitch border around the hemline and bottom of jumper. Over it is worn a blazer of cream, tan and green with roll collar revealing the cream dress. A green felt hat or green handkerchief bound around the hair completes the costume.

FOR THE TENNIS COURT—AND FOR THE GOLF LINKS

FOR THE WATER

Bathing suits, perhaps, give woman's individual taste and imagination the freest rein. The one-piece Jersey suit comes in tricky, colorful designs of broken stripes, or queer shapes that take their inspiration from anything from the pharaonic sky-scrappers to nail-heads.

But the sanest of Lido suits usher in the drowsy bathing costume—a skirted affair carrying out an ensemble idea with the robe part of the costume. Of printed silks, they embody most of the style feature of late afternoon frocks—tiered little skirts, bows here and there for trimming, flounces with inserts of tiny ruffles, and panels. Some of them are made of printed taffeta or figured crepe de chine and look exactly like the sleeveless afternoon frocks except for the abbreviated skirts. The wraps are often of taffeta or crepe and if the suit is fancy, the wrap is apt to be plain colored but of gay shade.

In riding togs, conventions are much more hidebound than in other sports wear. This season's regulation habit consists of an Oxford black coat, cream colored Bedford cloth breeches and flannel waistcoat of gay color. Sand colored and brown compose habits are still as good as ever. But the accessories tell the tale of innovations. A derby this season is short in the back brim and long in front. The handkerchief and tie come in the gayest of gay combinations. Barred or stitched flannel waistcoats add a new note and the crops take their handles from the user's individual preferences. A lover of dogs has a dog's head, and so on.

ARCHERY, HIKING, TOO
Archery and hiking have their outfits, too. A leather jacket atop a full-skirted two-piece colorful silk frock is ideal for the former. And of course for hiking there are innumerable styles in knicker and divided skirt models.

Each sport has its own costume. And as many costumes as possible for each sport, is the best axiom to follow in selecting the summer sports wardrobe.

Love Letters Of The Great

AS COMPILED BY DIANA RICE

PETER ABELARD—1079-1142

Poets and song-writers have long woven the romantic love of the French girl Heloise for the monk Abelard into their sonnets and hymns. And modern lovers still want their way to the cemetery of Perte-la-Chaise in Paris to gaze upon the tomb of those two most famous lovers in history.

It was long before the profanity of French Kings enraged a starving people that the scholar Abelard taught his philosophic theory of Realism in the great cathedral school of Notre Dame. Close by this seat of learning, under the care of her uncle, lived the young girl Heloise. A hundred taste in Latin, Greek and Hebrew drew the young couple together, but this studious occupation soon gave way to secret meetings, ardent vows and a hasty marriage. Unable to appease the wrath of her uncle, Heloise fled to Brittany with her lover. There she gave birth to a son.

Various reports have been written about the later life of this devoted pair, but the one usually accepted is that the enraged uncle followed Abelard to his hiding place, wrecking such mutilation upon him that he retired to a monastery. Heloise finally sought refuge in a convent, and it was from this hiding place that she, on hearing that Abelard still lived, sent out her first letter to him. The couple were never reunited in life, but after their death the sentiment of a romance-loving nation caused their bones to be moved to Paris, where the lovers now lie in one tomb. The letters of Heloise are of necessity couched in sisterly terms, as at the time she had been for many years a member of the society of nuns to whom all the world are brothers and sisters.

Heloise to Abelard
To her lord or rather to her father: to her husband, or rather to her brother; his servant, or rather his daughter; his wife or rather his sister; to Abelard, Heloise.

The letter which you sent to a friend for his consolation, my beloved, was lately brought to me by chance. When I saw the first words of the superscription that it came from you, I began to read with haste commensurate with the love I bear you. The one I have lost I imagined I found again, as if his image was reflected in his words. They were, I recollect, full of bitterness, the lines of this letter which narrated the miserable history of our conversion and your incessant trials, oh my unique treasure.

You keep faithfully, in this letter, your promise to your friend that you will prove his troubles to be as nothing, or at least slight in comparison with yours. I doubt not that it will be impossible for anybody to read or hear without shedding tears. This letter has renewed my suffering with an intensity that the incidents related by you, and the perils with which you are surrounded, augment. We are all forced to despair of your life, and every day our trembling hearts await as a final blow the rumor of your death.

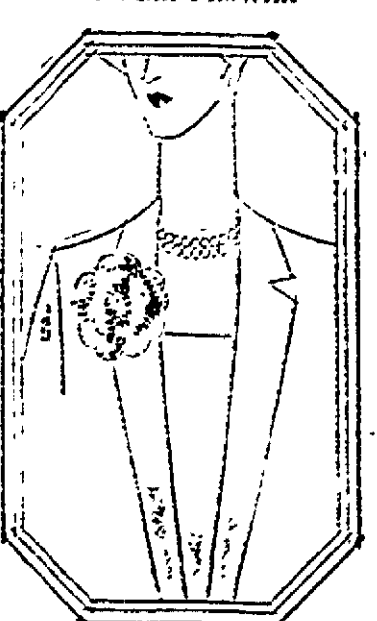

In the name of Christ who seems to protect you still, we who are His little servants and yours also, I implore you to inform us by frequent letters what shipwrecks afflict you in order that we, who remain alone in the world, yours, may participate in your plan or your joy. Ordinarily, it is procuring consolation for one in sorrow to share the sorrow, and a burden carried by several is less heavy a burden. If the storm should abate, hasten the more to write, for the news shall be more favorable; but whatever may be the object of your letters, they shall do good to us, because they shall show that you remember us.

How agreeable are letters of absent friends! Heloise says this in his letter to his friend Lucile: "You write to me often and I am thankful, because you present yourself to me thus in the only way that is possible to you. I never receive one of your letters without feeling at once that we are together." If the portraits of our absent friends revive their memory and soften grief, let their absence be a vain and deceptive consolation, how much more precious are the letters which bring to us veritable impressions of the absent friend! I thank God that hatred does not prohibit your giving to us your presence in this way. No difficulty opposes itself; let not your negligence cause delay, I implore you.

You have written to your friend a long letter where, to console him in his adversity, you relate your own. This too faithful recall the consolation which you offer to him has increased your desolation, and while you hoped to heal his wounds, you

FRINGE TRIMMINGS

Fringe, suspended gracefully from the shoulders of either side of a new Worth evening gown of white satin, and fringe used to edge the two tiers of a Lanvin model establish this type of trimming as chic.

COLORED SHOES

To grace milady's pace this spring come dozens of colored shoe models. Beige, rose and gray form the vanguard of color. But for afternoon and evening each gown can be matched in slippers in satins, kid and even linen.

RAFFIA TRIMMINGS

Solid embroidery or raffia in many colors decorates pink or green kid flat shoes that are dressy enough to accompany the most exquisite frock.

Household Hints

STRAIGHT CORDS

Connection cords for irons, toasters and so on should not be allowed to kink or get twisted. Many fuses are blown by twisted cords being jerked out of the sockets too suddenly.

MORE EGGS

From now on until summer eggs will be more plentiful and cheaper. Eggs should be utilized in salads, souffles, for garnishing and in combination with meats for main dishes.

CHILDREN'S DISHES

If your children have listless appetites in spring, why not buy a new plate, cup and saucer for them? Sometimes an individual colorful milk pitcher may encourage a child to drink his much-needed ration.

DUST COVERS

With the first gust of spring wind and dust, every garment of value should have its own cover. Inexpensive figured materials can fashion these simple covers and a little time will sew them up.

PAINTED FURNITURE

The success of painting furniture depends on removing the old finish before applying the new and letting the first coat thoroughly dry before putting on the second.

Musicians Of Womens Club End Season

A paper on German Music and Composers was read by Mrs. George Nixson, chairman of the final program of the music department of Appleton Womens club which was given Monday afternoon at the clubhouse. About 40 persons, including members and guests, attended.

A short business meeting was held before the program at which time it was decided to hold a picnic on the second Monday in May. Committees to plan for the affair will be selected by the president, Mrs. Earl Baker. Election of officers will take place at the picnic. A nominating committee consisting of Mrs. Lacey Horton, chairman; Mrs. E. S. Godfrey and Mrs. Nita Brinckley was appointed by Mrs. Baker at the meeting Monday.

The Music department of Appleton Womens club has been invited to furnish music at the Ninth district convention of Womens clubs to be held May 11 and 12 at Kaukauna. Several members of the club will sing as part of a program to be given by the Appleton Womens club on April 26, at Kaukauna. The Kaukauna Womens club gave a program before the local womens club in January.

Mrs. Albert H. Miller sang two selections at the meeting Monday afternoon. They were "The Violet," (Mozart) and the "Lotus Flower" (Schumann). Two piano selections, "Second Rhapsody" (Liszt) and "Pathetique" (Beethoven) were played by Mrs. E. A. Morse, and Mrs. J. J. Frank sang "Es ist nicht der Traum" (Rubinstein) and "Widmung" (Strauss). Two vocal duets, "I Would that my Love" (Mendelssohn) and "Fiege du Voglein" (Aub) were sung by Mrs. Nita Brinckley and Mrs. Charles Reinick. Mrs. Waldo F. Mitchell sang "Faith in Spring" (Schubert) and "An den Sonnenschein" (Schumann). The final selections on the program were piano numbers, "Andante in a Minor" (Schubert) played by Mrs. Ralph J. Watts.

Mrs. J. Orstein, Mrs. Ray Challenor and Mrs. George Wettengel were on the social committee.

How To Play Bridge

By Milton C. Work

The pointed for today is: When selecting the card for the opening lead, consider whether the contract is suit or No-Trump, and whether your partner has bid.

The original lead, frequently called "the blind lead" because it is made before any card in the hand of the Dummy is exposed is a most important part of the game of Bridge. The selection of the card to be led is affected materially by two important factors: (1) whether the partner of the leader has bid, and (2) whether the contract is a suit or No-Trump.

Each day during the current week I shall give the thirteen cards of a hand and four different biddings supposed to have taken place before the holder of that hand leads. A blank will be furnished to enable you to pencil in your selection of the lead in each case; on the succeeding day the leader I would make will be given with a full explanation.

I suggest that all who read today's article fill out the blank, and get their friends to do likewise, and tomorrow see who has the most that tally with my answers.

An exceptionally interesting contest would be to continue each day for the entire week and, out of the twenty chances, see who will name the most leads that appear with my answers.

Today's Hand

♠ 9-8-5
♥ 3-8-5
♦ 7-10
♣ A-Q-10-4

The above hand is supposed to be held by West, who has the lead in four different cases.

No. 1. South deals, bids one No-Trump and obtains the contract.

No. 2. East, deals, bids one Spade, South bids one No-Trump, West bids two Spades and, after two passes, South obtains the contract with two No-Trumps.

No. 3. South, deals, bids one Spade, and obtains the contract.

No. 4. South, deals, bids four Diamonds, and obtains the contract.

What card should West lead in each of these four cases? Write your selections on the answer slip below and compare with my answer tomorrow.

Bringing Up Mothers Is Speech Topic

Mrs. Marvin B. Rosenberry, wife of Judge Rosenberry, will talk on Bringing Up Mothers at a joint meeting of the Appleton Womens club and the Appleton branch of the American association of University Women at the Womens club Playhouse at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Rosenberry is well known to club women throughout the country. She was president of the national organization of university women at the time when the northern and southern branches were consolidated into one larger organization.

She recently returned from a speaking tour in the south. At Dallas, Tex., she spoke at the national conference of deans of women of universities, colleges and normal schools, deans of girls of high schools and principals of preparatory schools for girls. This annual conference is held under the auspices of the National Educational Association. She addressed the conference of the Texas State College for Women at Denton, Tex., and spoke at several meetings of women's organizations in Illinois.

Mrs. Rosenberry formerly taught in a girls' college in the east. When in Appleton she will be a house guest of Mrs. Henry M. Wriston.

A supper will be served at the clubhouse at 3:30 in the evening by the Clio and West End Reading clubs. Reservations for the supper should be made at the womens club Wednesday as the number to be accommodated is limited. It was announced.

The annual election of officers of the womens club will be held at a business meeting preceding Mrs. Rosenberry's talk.

LODGE NEWS

The regular meeting of Appleton court No. 132 of the Catholic Order of Foresters association has been postponed from Tuesday evening, April 12 to Tuesday, April 13. The Mission at St. Joseph's Catholic church this week was the reason for the change.

Women of Mooseheart legion will hold a business meeting at 7:45 Wednesday night in Moose temple. Balloting on candidates will take place.

Officers will be installed at the regular meeting of the Womens' Catholic Order of Foresters at 8 o'clock Wednesday night in Catholic home. There will be no social for retiring officers after installation of the new officers because of Holy Week. The party for the retiring officers will be held the fourth Wednesday in April.

Konemic lodge of Odd Fellows held a regular business meeting Monday night in Odd Fellow hall. Routine business was discussed.

The On-to-Milwaukee marching club will report on the first of a series of card parties to be given next Tuesday night, April 19, at the regular meeting of Fraternal Order of Eagles at 8 o'clock Wednesday night in Eagle hall. A report will also be given by the bowling committee on arrangements that have been made to attend the state bowling tournament to be held at Milwaukee starting May 7.

A regular meeting of Fidelity chapter Order of Eastern Star will be held at 7:30 Wednesday night in Masonic temple. No special business is scheduled.

PARTIES

Twenty men of the Thimpany Pulp and Paper Co. of Kaukauna, maintained in honor of Robert Wertheimer at the Conway hotel Monday evening. Mr. Wertheimer will leave soon for Oregon where he will manage a paper mill.

Group 2 of the First Baptist church was entertained at a 1 o'clock luncheon Monday at the home of Mrs. Albert Warner, Main-st., Kaukauna. Places were laid for 18. Assistant hostesses were Mrs. William Delrow and Mrs. Fred Fliegel.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

The Ladies Aid society of Hortonville Baptist church will have a maple syrup-waffle supper Wednesday evening.

CORNS

Lift Off—No Pain!

Doesn't hurt one bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the foot calluses, without soreness or irritation.

CARD PARTIES

For the first time in the history of the C. O. F. tourney, the bowling tournament was closed with two teams tied for first place. Bon's Tires of Chilton and Mc's Bakers of DePere were still tied for first place with 2774 when the last tournament team had bowled on Sunday, and the tourney closed with Mc's Bakers as the tournament favorites but the Chilton team sprung a surprise to finish in first place with the strong downriver team. The best Kaukauna team, Van's Barbers, finished in seventh place with a score of 2588. Over a hundred teams rolled in the tournament.

An Oshkosh pair, H. and R. Rief, finished in first place in the doubles with 1204 and H. Bongers and J. Berloski of Green Bay were second with 1189. Kaukauna was represented in third place by F. Hilgenberg and H. Minkbege who hit the marks for a count of 1177. Dr. R. J. Van Ellis and H. O. Haessly, also of Kaukauna, slipped into fifth place with 1164.

A Kaukauna man, F. Hilgenberg, topped first in the singles with a high score of 662 and J. Balliet of Appleton finished second with 662. The only other Kaukauna man to place in the singles was H. Minkbege who took fifth with 617.

F. Hilgenberg also had the highest all events score, 1836, and H. Bongers of Green Bay rolled 267 for the highest single game of the tournament.

Only one change took place on the last day of the tournament when bowlers from Menasha, DePere, Sheboygan, Fond du Lac, Kaukauna, Kewaunee and Two Rivers rolled. F. Bounnik of Kewaunee went into sixth place in the singles with 614.

TENNIS CLUB IS AFFILIATED WITH
STATE ASSOCIATIONNet Players Decide to Throw
Lot With Newly Organized
Society

Kaukauna — Members of the Kaukauna Tennis club decided to affiliate themselves with the Wisconsin State District Tennis association at a meeting of the club Monday evening in the high school building. Alphonse J. Berens will represent the local club on the executive board of the state organization. The association has just recently been organized and members of the Electric City club thought it would materially help the local club if it came in contact with players from other parts of the state. Local club members are not eligible to participate in any tournament sponsored by the Western Lawn Tennis association. The Dots Tennis club at Neenah and the Appleton Tennis club recently joined the state organization. A meeting will be held at Oshkosh in the near future.

Joining the state organization meant an increase in the yearly membership dues of the local club and it was decided to divide the club into two groups, the senior group to pay yearly dues of one dollar and the junior group, made up entirely of students, to pay 50 cents.

F. W. Dier was named chairman of a committee to take charge of the tournament to be held during the summer months. He will be assisted by Miss Betty Biese and Alphonse J. Berens.

Mr. Berens, who also is chairman of the rules and schedule committee, reported that the committee would meet Monday evening, April 18. He told club members that only those who paid their dues by April 20 would be included in the schedule.

Robert Brooks was appointed a committee of one to meet with the city park board and explain the club's needs on the tennis courts. Mr. Brooks also was urged to interest more of the married people of the city in the club. A number of married people attended the meeting Monday evening.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday evening, April 25. The schedule will be read at that time.

FEW DOGS ON STREETS
WHEN POLICE GET BUSY

Kaukauna — On Monday morning the new order from the city health department warning dog owners to tie up or muzzle their dogs, went into effect with the result that few dogs were seen on the streets and those that were seen had bright, new shiny muzzles on them. R. H. McCarty, chief of police, and his assistant, James McFadden, Sr., made a tour of the city early Monday morning and Chas. McCarty reported several dogs killed. "Dogs are scarce this morning but in a week or so people will pick up courage and permit their dogs to run around loose again," he said. "It is then that we'll get them."

Francis Hafer, the 5-year-old son of F. and Mrs. Hafer, Fourt, who was bitten by a stray dog Wednesday of last week, is in St. Elizabeth hospital at Appleton.

BEGIN REPAIRS ON
MOLICH FOUNDRYCompany Anxious to Resume
Casting as Soon as Changes
Can Be Made

Kaukauna — Workmen started cleaning up to the foundry of the Molich Machine and Foundry company on Monday following the disastrous fire in that building early Monday morning. Late in the forenoon contractors were at the plant making measurements for rebuilding the wrecked portion of the building.

R. M. Kanik, manager of the plant, was anxious to get the east end of the foundry cleaned up so that it could be repaired temporarily and foundry work continue. The east end will be boarded shut and contractors will get to work rebuilding the west end, where the fire started and which was most seriously damaged. Although the outside concrete walls of the foundry are in good shape it will be necessary to rebuild three of the upper concrete piers on the west end. The steel superstructure in this end is also badly twisted and will have to be rebuilt. Among the larger pieces of machinery and equipment lost in the fire, not including the numerous patterns, was a $5000 electric crane and a large shaker or tumbler. In Mr. Kanik's opinion, the patterns were the most serious loss. He reported Monday that the company lost everything of its patterns although several belonging to other concerns were saved. These were stored in the east end of the foundry. The cupolas suffered no damage.

Pain in Your Shoulder?It's Probably Neuritis;
Use Tysmol for Relief

Fast relief of pain in the vicinity of the shoulder blade is especially due to neuritis, brought on by exposure to drafts or sudden changes of weather. In some cases there is stiffness or soreness in the muscles, making it difficult to raise the arm.

The safest and easiest way to relieve such an attack is to apply a small quantity of Tysmol over the affected area. This soothing, healing preparation is quickly absorbed through the pores and carried to the throbbing, aching peripheral nerves. The pain usually stops at once and in a very short time the last trace of soreness is completely gone.

Tysmol is absolutely harmless—free from opium. Recommended for all forms of nerve pain whether caused by neuritis, neuralgia, sciatica or rheumatism. You can get a good supply for 31¢ at any drug store. Always on hand at

School Is Completed

Special to Post-Crescent

Kimberly—A Kimberly high school tennis club has been organized by George E. Berger of the high school and already has about thirty members. Work on the court, which is at the rear of the school, was completed Thursday and the court was in use Friday. The making of the court was undertaken as a special manual training project by the students. According to Mr. Berger, the club plans to have tournaments for both boys and girls which will be played off near the close of the school term. Village enthusiasts will also be permitted to join, but will be taxed a higher membership fee than that of the student members. Altogether, the membership enrollment is expected to reach fifty.

The Rev. James Brinks of Chicago, arrived Friday to take the pastorate of the Kimberly Presbyterian church. The congregation have erected a minister's home near the church which will be occupied for the first time by the Rev. Mr. Brinks and his family. The Rev. Mr. Brinks was in social activity work in Chicago before coming to Kimberly. He is accompanied by his wife and two children.

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia"
Better than Soda

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drugstore. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

"WHAT PRICE" IS NOT A QUESTION

"That bit of Latin slang which is the title of the motion picture, 'What Price Glory,' is not a question and ought not to be followed by a question mark," says Victor McLaglen, the brawny Englishman who plays the part of Capt. Flagg in the Fox film which comes to Fischer's Appleton Theatre Thursday April 21.

According to McLaglen, "What Price" is a specimen of a certain kind of British slang which has to do with phrases rather than with individual words.

"What Price" is used by the Cockney," says McLaglen, "not as a question but as a sneer." He says "What Price Glory," "What Price Happiness" or "What Price Life" is just the same sense that a certain American once said the public be damned.

"The Cockney has twisted other phrases out of their original meanings, with curious results." When a coster comes home after a cool day's business and his wife questions him about it, he tells her that the day was "Not Price" meaning very good. The use of this abbreviation is as common as the word "good."

McLaglen, who holds the title of captain in private life as well as in character for "What Price Glory," fought with the British Army in both the Boer war and the Great War. His military experience was partly responsible for his having been given the role of Capt. Flagg.

"MIDNIGHT SUN" IS TRUMPET AT LOCAL OPENING

"The Midnight Sun," a picture remarkable for the dramatic strength of its story, for the richness and color of its scenes, and for the acting power of its players, is now the attraction at Fischer's Appleton theatre. It is Universal's most recent Super-Jewel and is a worthy successor to its other big productions. It was directed by Dimitri Buchowetzki, noted Russian playwright, and presented by four featured players and an all-star cast. The picture is a spectacular and dramatic story of St. Petersburg, Russia, during the reign of the last Czar. All of the seductive luxury of the nobility and the country's wealthy has been caught and presented in a lavish manner. The story centers around a dancing girl, who through the influence of a Grand Duke and of Russia's financial king, brings herself from the ranks of the Imperial Russian Ballet to the position of its premiere ballerina. Playing one against the other or the girl loses her heart to a young officer of the Duke's household. Out of this, with the aid of Nihilists' plotting, comes intrigue, romance and drama.

"DUPED" WITH BELEN HOLMES AND WM. DESMOND

One of the most interesting pictures of the year according to Manager Knoghe of the New Bijou Theatre is "Duped" coming to the Onella Street picture house Wednesday and Thursday.

The picture is based on an original story by John B. Clyde, an author well known to theatre fans. It is said to abound in thrills, intrigue, society atmosphere as well as the romance of Southern California. It tells the story of the unconscious feud between John Morgan, wealthy New York clubman, and Dolores Verdugo, heiress to a wealthy estate over the Morgan mine. Due to the crookedness of George Forsythe, superintendent of the Golden Eagle Mine, who was secretly on the payroll of Morgan's enemies, Dolores is given a grant to the mine which she believes to be authentic.

Morgan arrived at Dolores' home in a very unexpected way, and from then on the plot moves along with sizzling red-fire, quickness and verve. William Desmond plays the role of John Morgan. Helen Holmes is said to be a very attractive and able support as the beautiful heiress. The remainder of the cast consists of George McGill, Dorotha Volbert, J. P. MacGowan, Ford West and James Thompson.

WOULD COMPEL CITIES TO TAX FRATERNITIES

Madison —(AP)— Assemblyman Arthur A. Hitt, who has a bill in the legislature to compel taxation of college fraternity and sorority properties, will explain his measure Tuesday afternoon before the joint finance committee of the legislature. Under the present laws, taxation of these properties is optional on the part of communities in which they are located.

The city of Madison is particularly interested in Mr. Hitt's bill because of recent efforts of the Greek letter societies at the University of Wisconsin to have their organization erased from the tax rolls. Court action was contemplated by the officers of the interfraternity council but it did not materialize.

The taxation of gifts, made shortly before the death of the person providing such valuables to friends or relatives, will be argued before the joint committee on finance. Assemblyman Schmidt, who has presented the bill relating to taxation of gifts will defend his side of the proposal from the exempt list.

His bill argues that "gifts made in contemplation of death should be taxed." The fact that many divide valuable property shortly before death during to avoid the inheritance tax will be also brought out by Mr. Schmidt.

Senator Johnson, Superior, will review before the committee on state and local government, his bill relating to the creation of a state conservation commission. His bill concerns the establishment of a system for the protection, development and use of forests, fish and game and providing a penalty.

WINNEBAGO BOARD SHIES AT GIVING UP CONTROL

Members of the Winnebago-co highway committee refused to commit themselves as to whether they would turn over the care of the county's share of the S. Cherry-st boulevard to the city of Appleton at a meeting with Mayor A. C. Rule, City Attorney Alfred C. Bosser and Alderman C. A. Thompson, chairman of the street lighting committee, at Oshkosh last Saturday afternoon.

Plans for improvement of the boulevard by the addition of shrubbery and ornamental lights include the entire section of the street, the extreme end of which lies in Winnebago-co. The members of the common council thought that if Winnebago-co would turn over the care of that part of the street to the city it would pay the cost of the improvement.

CHANGES OF WINTER ADD TO INTEREST OF OPENING GAMES

New Managers, Old Idols In New Uniforms Offered Fans In Season Openers

Bucs, Giants Favored in National; Mackmen, Yanks, A. L. Favorites

America's premier outdoor festival the baseball pennant races in the American and National Leagues, opened Tuesday with more changes in the lineups of the sixteen clubs than the hardy perennials of the bleachers had seen in many years.

More new managers, more old idols in new uniforms and more accumulated winter debris to be carried away than ever before, were offered to the nation's fans as the aftermath of a season of unprecedented trading, wrangling and scandal mongering. A leader, some smart veterans or enthusiastic youngsters, faced an introduction to fans in each of the eight major league opening cities and in the words of K. Landis, Boss of baseball, the outlook was good. The weathermen generally over the big time baseball belt said so too.

Babe Ruth's new contract Ty Cobb's final year, Rogers Hornsby's transfer, Connie Mack's heavy purchases of seasonal material and nine new ball club pilots were among the row of question marks for fandom as the soot of winter scandal was blown away by the crisp winds of spring. The baseball champions of the world, the St. Louis Cardinals began their defense of their title in the ballparks of the Chicago Cubs of the National League.

President Coolidge, despite his lame wrist, planned to toss the first ball in the American League opener at Washington, with Boston as the opposition led again by Bill Carrigan. The gray-haired group of Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics, led by the veteran managers, Ty Cobb and Eddie Collins, was pitted against Babe Ruth and his fellow champions of the American League in New York.

Rogers Hornsby, a wealthy retired stock broker, and the other New York Giants, premiere against the Philadelphia Nationals. The other two American league games, Chicago at Cleveland and Detroit at St. Louis, brought out four new managers each with an interesting background. Ray Schalk caught for the Chicago White Sox for fourteen years before he at last was made the boss. Jack McCallister was promoted to the vacancy when Tris Speaker of the mighty wallop was given his release.

Ty Cobb's hopefuls at Detroit were given over to George Moriarty and Dan Howley took the burden at St. Louis off the weary shoulders of George Sisler.

Wilbert Robinson of Brooklyn starts Tuesday at Boston. The Pittsburgh Pirates were guests at Cincinnati. The baseball writers and those who back their guesses with money lean strongly to a duel between Pittsburgh and New York for the first place honors of the National league with the St. Louis Cardinals, world champions, and Cincinnati completing the first division. Connie Mack's old-Young mixture and the New York Yankees are the pronounced favorites in the American League, with the Detroit and Cleveland clubs running next.

RIPON TRACK TEAM REVEALS STRENGTH

Outdoor Work Shows Reds to Be as Strong as Champs of Last Year

Ripon (CP)—Outdoor track workouts at Ripon college, which have been the main feature of the spring athletic program here, reveal a strength in cinder and field events destined to rival last year's championship flight in the Wisconsin-Illinois conference.

Featuring Minneapolis prodigies Coach Carl Doehling will depend largely on Capt. Joe Meyer, the 9.5 second centry dash man for a maximum of points. Ex-captain Murray Meyer in the sprints. Star-weather and beach and Thomas are the 440 men.

The half mile event will be represented by George Silverwood, a veteran of 1922 who has returned for his degree. Jones Reed and Wilkinson are millers; Stauffer, Opperman, Zeff, and Robinson two millers; Murray and La Motte hurdler; high jumpers include Teska, Beach, Williams, and Jones. Pole vaulters will be led by Ure, Martin, Williams and Hyson.

Following the return of Tommy La Motte, Minneapolis, two track captains will definitely share honors at Ripon college this spring.

This is the first time in Ripon's history that a dual captaincy has been in force. A tie vote by the 1926 team brought both La Motte and Joe Meyer to the top. La Motte has been out of school for several months, but entered at the beginning of the third quarter.

STAR MARBLE SHOOTERS IN STATE TOURNAMENT

Milwaukee (CP)—Star marble shooters of at least nine Wisconsin cities will "buckle down" in an effort to win the state championship.

District tournaments will be held in Milwaukee, Cudahy, Stoughton, Beloit, Sturgeon Bay, Lake Geneva, West Bend and Wausau, with the winners participating in the state tournament here May 21. Other cities are expected to enter.

The state champion will participate in the national tournament at Atlantic City June 17. Last year 25 cities participated in the state marble tournament.

MANAGER LINES UP APPLETON NINE FOR 1927 VALLEY YEAR

Baetz Expects All Vets Back With New Stars; Warm Weather Needed

Practically every veteran of last year's Appleton baseball team of the Fox River Valley League will be back in action this year and the management of the team is dicker with several other good players to strengthen the team to pennant-winning calibre, according to Manager C. O. Baetz. Last year the team showed flag-winning possibilities in spots and then again played terrible ball, but with the new players, cool-headed vets, to strengthen the lineup, the Baetzmen may be strong contenders for the gon-fallon this year. All the new strength is needed as every other team in the league, especially the champion Oshkosh and Neenah nines is strengthening greatly.

Manager Baetz refuses to announce as yet who he is working on, but local fans hope that it will be veterans who can keep the team cool under fire, especially in the infield. Last year the infield performed well but with its youthfulness when it "blew" it blew far and wide, one or two errors causing a landslide. With a veteran head to calm the boys the team could probably pull the games from the fire.

First call for practice will be issued as soon as a fairly warm sun comes out to greet the boys, though it now is late to start, with the opening game on May 1. However, all the players are working indoors, toughening their hands and muscles and getting the feel of the ball. Those who have worked hard outside reported a severe stiffness caused by the cold, and Manager Baetz wishes to avoid this to keep his men from hand and charley horses so that they will be in fairly good condition for the opener.

In the outfield Manager Baetz has five veterans in Bent, Boyle, Hillman, Prieb and himself. Bent, Hillman and Boyle played their first seasons last year, and especially the former should show real play this year. Prieb was one of the most consistent hitters and fielders in the loop. Infielders who are expected back are Goshka, who plays any position in the front wall and outfield, Son Tornow, second and short, Cave Radtke, first base, Baetz, second base and one or two new men. Hurters are Starnagel, a veteran, Boyle and Refke, the youthful moundsman, who began to show real valley loop class last year. Rod Ashman, in good physical condition from his athletic work at Miami university, should step in well behind the log when he returns north. He was one of the best backstops in the loop last year.

RIPON MARKSMEN HIGH IN CORPS AREA SHOOT

Ripon (CP)—Ripon college sharpshooters, cadet students in the R. O. T. C. military unit here, placed second in the Sixth corps area rifle match which included many of the largest universities of the middle west, according to Captain Wm. W. Eagles.

The only R. O. T. C. unit defeating Ripon, a college of 509 students, was Michigan State college, with a total of 3,576 points as compared to Ripon's 3,542. Northwestern University finished third in the match, the University of Wisconsin fourth; and Knox college fifth.

APPLETON LOSES 1928 ELK LODGE MAPLE MEET

Appleton will not play host to the annual bowling tournament of the Wisconsin Elks clubs next winter, according to the choice made at Oshkosh Sunday at a meeting of club representatives of the state. Appleton and Green Bay were the strongest bidders for the honor but it was awarded to Waukesha on a compromise vote.

BLUES FACE FIRST MEET WITHIN MONTH

Strong Marquette Tracksters
Foes of Christoph Squad
on May 7

The difficult task of rounding a fair track squad into real form in less than a month before the taking part in the first dual meet of the season, faces George Christoph, Lawrence college athlete manager. The meet on May 7 is with Marquette university's crack team and not only is it the first but the hardest on the Blue card this year. Beloit college comes here for a meet on May 14, the Blues take part in the Wisconsin-Illinois conference meet on May 21 at Lake Forest and the Midwest conference meet on May 21 at Monmouth college, Monmouth, Ill.

The weakness of the squad at present seems to be in the distance events, where Purvis, Appleton, a good man, is the only vet. The best bets besides Purvis are Mueller, Wausau; Finkert, Wausau; Wolf, Milwaukee; Jacobson of Rio; and Jones, Milwaukee. The Blues are strongly fortified in the weights with Captain Bob Hipke, New Holstein, as the leader. Last year Bob set a new W-I mark of 41 feet 4 1/2 inches. At present he is out with a broken thumb suffered in a boxing bout, but he will be back in a few weeks. Other weightmen are Heide, Appleton, Javelin; Nason, Wisconsin Rapids, Javelin; Artz, Mukwonago, shot and discus; all veterans. Artz also works in the discus and Javelin.

Other veterans are Donald and Douglas Hyde, Appleton, hurdles, sprints and 440; Nason, broad jump and pole vault; Nobles, Wisconsin Rapids, dashes; Reddeck, Elgin, Ill., dashes; Fischl, Manitowish, 440; Menninger, Appleton, 380; Beyer, Merrill, hurdles.

Hopes that Palmer McConnell, 1925-26 star, will be able to add power to the Blue lineup by the end of the season are bright. The Darlington boy is a consistent point winner in the 100 yard, high jump, broad jump and hurdles. He recently submitted to an operation for appendicitis, but he now is reporting for practices, though he has been unable to hit his usual stride so far.

KIMBERLY BALLERS PREP FOR SEASON

Manager Cooke Has 25
Promising Men Out; Open
at Green Bay May 1

Kimberly (CP)—The Kimberly baseball team of the Fox River Valley League opens its 1927 season at Green Bay, May 1, and plays its first home game May 8, with Menasha, according to the schedule which has just been adopted. The squad held its first outdoor practice Sunday morning at the ball park.

All of the regulars of last year's team were out besides a large number of promising new men. Practice will be held on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday evenings, and Sundays, until the league season opens.

With about 25 men out for the team there will be much competition for the positions. Kimberly also has high hopes of adding several well known baseball veterans from a Combined Locks to its lineup, and with these additions should present a formidable array against the strongest teams of the loop, according to Manager L. O. Cooke.

APPLETON LOSES 1928 ELK LODGE MAPLE MEET

Appleton will not play host to the annual bowling tournament of the Wisconsin Elks clubs next winter, according to the choice made at Oshkosh Sunday at a meeting of club representatives of the state. Appleton and Green Bay were the strongest bidders for the honor but it was awarded to Waukesha on a compromise vote.

PID PURDY GOING GOOD WITH SEALS

Former Packer and Beatrice,
Neb., Grid Star Shines on Diamond

Green Bay (CP)—E. Pid Purdy, pint sized quarterback of the Green Bay Packers, just can't keep out of the publicity limelight.

George Downer, well known Milwaukee sport scribe, gave "Pid" some ink in one of his columns in "Following Through" on Sunday, and here is how the ink was spilled about the Packer star.

"Last spring, when the Brewers were going so badly at the start of the season, The Sentinel received many suggestions from fans, designed to help out the club.

"One fan, a former member of The Sentinel sport staff, Art Hughes, suggested the names of two players who might be available—he was not positive that either of them would help the Brewers. The men he named were Johnny Monroe, second baseman, with Omaha in the Western league in 1925, and Pid Purdy, outfielder, of Lincoln. Monroe played a great game last year and is now playing second base and batting third for Sacramento in the Pacific Coast league. California baseball writers call Monroe the best second sacker in the league on his showing this spring.

"Purdy is well known here as the quarterback and star drop kicker of the Green Bay Packer football team. He went through the 1926 baseball season with Lincoln in the Western and hit the trifling total of 372 in 140 games. He is now leading off and batting center field for Seattle. In a recent game against Los Angeles, Purdy got four hits in five trips to the plate, scored three runs, made four putouts and one assist. One of his hits was a double."

BADGER FIVE ELECTS CAPTAIN ON THURSDAY

Madison—The annual basketball banquet given by the Madison Gyro club to Wisconsin's basketball team will be held Thursday at the Park hotel. Following custom, the letter winners will leave the room to elect their captain for the 1927-28 conference season. Two Rockford, Ill., boys stand out as the most logical choices to lead the Badgers. Either Louie Behr, forward, and a unanimous choice on all-conference teams, or Woe Charley Andrews, forward, are the favored ones to receive the coveted honor.

The W. I. A. A. has set the maximum value at one dollar and since a Turkish towel letter costs about a dollar, they are awarded.

Philadelphia, Pa.—Joe Gluck, New York, knocked out Ben Bass, Philadelphia (5.) Bout declared "no contest."

The only Menasha bowler to take the drives at Elk alloys Monday evening in the first annual bowling tournament of the Wisconsin department of the American Legion, made the only change among the leaders. W. Malouf, a star Pail city pinman, rolled into third place in the singles, just a one pin from a tie for first and two from a lone first place. The Menasha hit 637 with games of 223 192 and 222, falling down in his second game, where a 200 score would have given him an easy first place. Had he added one more pin he would have tied for first with McMonigal, Stevens Point, and Thomas, Green Bay, who hold the position with 638 and two more would have given him a 639 and first.

Beside Malouf, Neenah bowlers rolled doubles and singles. Tuesday evening bowlers from Kiel and Chilton take the singles for both five-man, doubles and singles events. Malouf's score dumped P. Sommers, Stevens Point, to fourth; F. Fries, Appleton to fifth; and Kerhoff, Green Bay, from among the leaders, each being pushed down a notch.

EDUCATIONAL STUDIES PRESENTED AT SCHOOL

A series of visual educational studies, presented with the aid of camera slides, are being shown at Appleton Vocational school. Various classes, including the occupations students, history and civic groups are shown the slides as a part of their routine work. The slides are prepared and sent out by the Extension division of the University of Wisconsin.

They are educational in character and deal with various subjects, such as a Trip to Egypt, Wire Making and various other trade explanatory groups. During the showing of the slides E. P. Chandler, coordinator at the school, under whose direction the slides are being shown, gives an explanatory lecture. After the slides have been shown the class holds an open forum discussion on the topic. Each group consists of from 75 to 100 slides.

New York (CP)—Phil McGraw, Detroit, defeated Charley Manty, New Bedford, Mass. (10.)

Baltimore—Vince Dundee, Baltimore, scored a technical knockout over George Russell, Philadelphia (3.)

HOLD HIGH SCHOOL GOLF MEET AT LAKE

Fifth Annual Prep Tourney
Will Be at Lake Geneva
June 3 and 4

Golfers of Wisconsin high school will assemble for their fifth annual tournament on June 3 and 4 at Hillmoor course, Lake Geneva, the first time the meet has been held away from Racine since its inauguration in 1922.

The meet will be under the supervision of the first four high school tournaments held on the Washington park public links at Racine and now even with the meet in another city he is to lend his aid again.

Eleven schools were represented in the first tournament while last season it drew 26 schools. This is expected to be increased to 35 schools at Hillmoor

BANK DECISION TO CUT $1,415,000 FROM VALUATION

Substitution of Income Tax on Bank Stock Is Held Probable

Approximately $1,415,000 will be taken from the assessed valuation of Appleton as a result of the recent supreme court decision exempting bank stock from personal property taxation. This estimation is based on the 1926 assessment of bank stocks. It is very likely, however, that there will be some substitution of an income tax on bank stocks as a bill to accomplish this is now before the state legislature.

The city receives only 50 per cent of the income tax; however, the county receiving 40 per cent and the state 10, whereas 70 per cent of the personal property tax was retained by the city. It is estimated that the income tax paid by the banks probably will not be more than 30 per cent of the personal property tax paid in the past.

In 1926 the assessed valuation of Appleton was $2,716,200 or an increase of approximately $1,100,000 over 1925 when the valuation was $30,690,500. If the valuation of the city increases in 1927 as it did in 1926 the assessed valuation in 1927 will probably remain at about the same figure as the previous year.

The loss in valuation is a permanent loss to the city and is in addition to the direct loss of approximately $150,000 which the city may have to return to banks as having been collected under an unconstitutional law.

CHURCH CONVENTION COMMITTEE CONVENES

The Omaha convention committee of First Congregational church, appointed to boost local attendance at the national congregational conference at Omaha, Neb., from May 26 to June 1, met Sunday morning at the church. F. J. Harwood will preside as national moderator at the conference.

A report on the cost of attendance, and conference features will be prepared by the committee for presentation to church members. Committee members also will personally see every prospect. Local delegates will be able to go on a special train from Chicago. Members of the Omaha committee are Dr. J. S. Reeve, chairman, Roy Marston, Mrs. T. E. Orblison and Erik Madisen.

CHURCH COMMITTEE TO RECRUIT DELEGATES

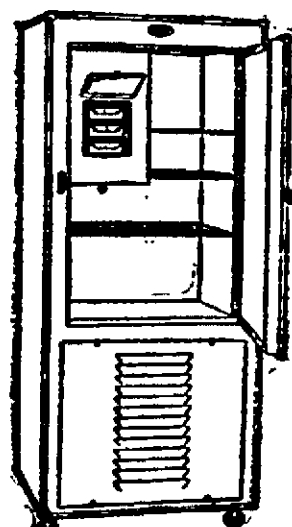

A committee to recruit representatives from the congregation of the First Congregational church to the national council of the church at Omaha, Neb., May 25 to June 1, has been appointed. Those in the group are Dr. J. S. Reeve, Roy Marston, A. J. Ingold, Mrs. T. E. Orblison, and Erik Madisen.

F. J. Harwood, national moderator, will open the council and give the moderator's address. A large delegation to this council is urged particularly because a member of the church will close his term as moderator.

JAPANESE BIRD FAD COSTLY

Wealthy residents of Japan have adopted the budgerigar, a bird slightly larger than the canary and resembling it, as the bird of fashion in that country. The vogue followed the introduction of one of the birds of a rare color by a Japanese prince. Once a pair of land for about 65 cents, but recently in Japan as much as $500 was paid for a pair. The birds were taken from Australia to England at great expense many years ago. They are prized more for their color than their singing.

EAGLES OPEN NEW HOME ON APRIL 17

Open House Week Will Be Held in $1,250,000 Club-house from April 17 to 24

Milwaukee—The new Eagles clubhouse, which will cost, including furnishings and property approximately $1,250,000 will be opened here April 17. Open house week will be held April 17-24, Harry R. McLogan, chairman of the program committee has announced and during this week the general public is invited to inspect the building. Members of Milwaukee aerle will conduct visitors through the club.

The dedicatory services will be conducted the evening of Easter Sunday, April 17, just two years after the turning of the first spadeful of earth in the construction work. Officers of the grand aerle and prominent city and state officials will participate in the ceremonies.

The new home is one of the largest buildings devoted exclusively to club purposes in the country. The ball room, in which the dedicatory services will be held, is the largest in the state. Around the oval shaped floor, 130 by 2300 feet, is a carpeted promenade, with lounge space and rest rooms at each end. On the balcony level are 27 loges. The stage is located on the west side of the room, and is equipped to accommodate the largest theatrical productions. An amplifying system will make it possible for the speaker to be heard in the farthest corner of the room. The ball room may be converted into an auditorium with a seating capacity of 6,000 persons.

One of the unique features of the building is the "daylight" swimming pool. Submerged lights, placed just below the water line, will illuminate the room although all other lights are turned out. The pool is 35 by 75 feet in area.

Other features of the building are the roof garden, half open and half covered, a palm garden, card rooms, lounge rooms, barber shop, Turkish, electric and shower baths, locker rooms, coffee shop and library.

The building committee is composed of Robert F. Schmidt, chairman, Paul R. Herwig, J. J. Fleming, Harry R. McLogan, Victor H. Manhardt, Gustav Hundertmark and A. J. Kluppak. Mr. McLogan is general building manager and Mr. Herwig, building superintendent.

USE CRUSHED STONE TO REPAIR CITY STREETS

Although it is impossible to secure gravel, the city trucks have been hauling crushed stone from the Menasha stone company at Menasha for several days and street repair work throughout the city is slowly going forward, according to R. F. Jackworthy, street commissioner. The side roads near the city are in such muddy condition that it is difficult to get to the gravel pits and therefore no gravel is available. The major portion of the street repair work is being held up until the city can secure gravel.

Crushed stone is fine for road repair work, according to Mr. Jackworthy, but it is much more expensive than gravel and therefore only as much as is absolutely necessary is being purchased. No cinders are available.

Why Delco Motor Oils

Oil Better and Longer!

FOR the same reason that a pure-bred dairy cow gives more, and better, milk. For the same reason that a thoroughbred horse has the heart and stamina for that needed, final winning spurt. For the same reason that a blooded bird dog will hold a point, without flinching at the heaviest gunfire.

All of which, "sugared down," means that Nature has put into the thoroughbred animal and the thoroughbred oil, "that little more" which mercurial trial brings out so sharply.

Delco Motor Oils are refined, whole and complete, from pure, paraffin-base petroleum. Almost always you pay a premium price for the better lubricant this finer petroleum produces. No asphalt-base oil can equal Delco's heat-resistance. Here's what your motor gets, with Delco, without added cost.

- 25% less "drag" when motor is cold.
- 12% more oil body at motor heat.
- 15% less loss through vaporization and burning.
- 19% less carbon content (Conradson test).

EASTER

A fitting time for Mr. Bunny to announce that he is MOST IMPORTANT—for it is from his fur that most felt hats are made.

Wild rabbits of Australia furnish most of the desirable felting furs used now-a-days.

MALLORY'S use only the best of furs in the making of their hats, that's why they give so good service.

Your new Hat should be a MALLORY.

Who cares about the noble names Of Hannibal and Charlemagne; Of Alexander, King of Greece, Or Philip, Emperor of Spain?

Who cares about the noble names Of Homer, Virgil, Rabelais, Of Dickens, Smollet, Browning, Pope, Of Coleridge, or Poe, or Gray?

Who cares for all the Bachs and Brahms, The Liszt, the Verdis, and the Mozarts, The Schuberts, Rmski-Korsakows And other big boys of the beaux arts?

We'd rather hear of Ruthless Ruth, Of Hornsby, Speaker, Johnson, Cobb, Of Sisker, Alexander, Frisch— And other boys who know the job.

CONSTRUCTION CO.
GETTING READY FOR
2 PAVEMENT JOBS

Machinery Is Being Hauled to Fremont to Start on May 1

Fremont—The J. Jorgenson Construction Co. of Denmark, which has awarded the contract for laying approximately 2 1/2 miles of concrete on highways 18 and 95 in Waupaca and Outagamie counties this year, is having road construction machinery brought to Fremont preparatory to starting the work.

Concrete will be laid from the west end of highway 18, depending upon the material used and the convenience in transporting. Traffic over the bridge across the Wolf river will be accommodated during the time of construction by laying the pavement on half sections from the bridge to the intersection of high 95 on 18. The pavement will be 18 feet wide instead of 25 feet wide, as first planned, and the roadway will be 60 instead of 120 feet. This change was made necessary by the allotted funds available for road construction in the county.

The work will begin May 1 and road grading and other preparatory work will commence soon.

HENRY PITT RITES

Funeral services were held for Henry Sylvester Pitt at 1 o'clock at the home and at 1:30 at the Presbyterian church last Friday. The Rev. Mr. Feiler of Appleton conducted the services. Burial was made at the Lakeside cemetery, Fremont.

Mr. Pitt was born March 13, 1856, in the town of Wolf River, and was 71 years. He died a week ago Monday. He was found by his son in his repair shop. The deceased was a son of Charles Pitt and Catherine of New York. During his life in Fremont he held various school and village offices. In 1883 he was married to Miss Mary Wood. For perfect tinting of dainty underwear, dresses, etc., the easiest way—and by far the best way—is the use of real dye. It tints in cold water, you know; just dip the garment and it takes whatever time you wish to give it. A matter of minutes.

Real dyes will get such smooth and even tones as shame the streaky, wishy-washy work of synthetic preparations for the purpose! Diamond dye in original powder form is only fifteen cents at the drug store. Do your own tinting. Then dip to tint—and you'll have an effect that's beautiful. And if you want the tint permanent, just use boiling water!

Diamond dyes do a perfect "professional" job of dyeing, too; the druggist has sample shades and simple directions. For a book of endless suggestions, in full color, request a free copy of Color Craft of DIAMOND DYES, Dept. N22, Burlington, Vermont.

REPORT 2 FIRES AT VILLAGE IN ONE DAY

Damage Is Slight in Both Instances, as Blazes Are Discovered Soon Enough

Special to Post-Crescent
Black Creek—The village fire department was called to the Henry Zable residence at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Robert Zable, a neighbor, discovered a fire on the roof of the former's residence. The fire was extinguished with chemicals, and damage was confined to one room on the second floor and the roof. The first floor was slightly damaged by water. The fire originated from sparks from the chimney. Damages will amount to about $150, it is reported.

The John Sandkyl farm home on route 4 also was damaged by fire Thursday morning due to a chimney fire. The roof ignited, doing about $25 damage. Mr. Sandkyl and son were in the village at the time and the neighbors were called to extinguish the flames. The Sandkyl family was unaware of the chimney fire until a neighbor, Mrs. Guy Daniels, called them by phone.

Both losses are covered by insurance.

A large crowd attended the dinner and bazaar at the Methodist church Thursday.

They Roll In Their Own

Their comfortable, smoothly running automobiles are a symbol of the ease which marks their journey through life.

Effortless acquisition of the things worth while is theirs—

Simply because they regularly read the Post-Crescent's A-B-C Classified Columns and keep constantly in touch with the most profitable opportunities there are.

The largest per cent of them get the very cars, in which they roll so comfortably, from the Automotive Columns of the classified section. But these cars are far from being the only things they get.

The A-B-C Ads find good positions for them—or real estate bargains—also household articles at low prices—or profitable business opportunities—and any number of other things which they need in their daily lives.

You may enjoy the same advantages—if you will read the classified section daily.

HOLD FOOD MEETINGS IN COUNTY THIS WEEK

The first of a series of four food meetings being conducted in the county this week was held Monday at Seymour under the direction of Miss Edna L. Huffman, of the University of Wisconsin Home Economics Extension division. Mrs. Robert A. Doersch was chairman of arrangements.

Three more meetings of a similar nature are scheduled this week. The second was held Tuesday at Shiocton, arrangements for which were made by Mrs. F. O. Towne. On Wednesday the sessions will be held at Hortonville, while Mackville will be the scene of the meeting the following day. Miss Alice Jamieson and Mrs. Ed Miller are the respective chairmen of the last two meetings.

Each is divided into two programs, a morning and afternoon session. The preparation and serving of a balanced diet is discussed by Miss Huffman in the morning, and the principles in planning a balanced diet are taken up in the afternoon.

NEW COUNCILMEN GET FIRST TASTE TONIGHT

The first meeting of the new council will be held at the city hall at 7:30

START INTERIOR WORK ON GEENEN ADDITION

The outside construction of the three story addition at Geenen's Dry Goods store has been completed and workmen started plastering and putting glass in the windows this week. It is expected the structure, which is 26 feet wide and 62 feet long and three stories high, will be completed soon after May 1 and fixtures and stock will be moved into the new quarters between May 1 and 15. The opening of the addition is to be held sometime after May 15.

Tuesday night. It will be an informal gathering and changes in the council rules will be discussed. Policies for the coming year and appointment of standing committees probably will be discussed.

Try This Simple Method for Blackheads

If you are troubled with these unsightly blemishes, get two ounces of Calomite powder from any drug store. Sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth and rub over the blackheads. In a few minutes every blackhead, big or little, will be dissolved away entirely. adv.

Feet Are as Varied as Faces No. 11

This is one of a series of twenty illustrated advertisements explaining the difference between the many types of feet, and suggesting the proper foot-wear for each.

The Low Instep

Among the troublesome feet that shoe men are called upon to fit is the long, thin foot, with instep below the normal measurement.

The illustration shows an excellent type of low instep, and may be called a "shoe man's foot," for strangely enough, a large percentage of shoe men's feet are of the long, slim, low instep type.

In fact, it used to be a regular practice for shoe men to have shoes specially made, before so many good combination lasts were put on the market. Now it is possible for feet of this sort to be properly fitted to give the right support.

Novelty salespeople have studied feet; they know feet; they know how to fit shoes so that you may enjoy complete comfort and resulting better general health.

Make sure that your Easter frock is worn over the right corset. There are models for everyone in our Corset Section.

Smart Neckwear to Wear With the Easter Suit

Easter morning charm and smartness for every woman's costume are going to hang largely upon the discriminating choice of just such details as the right vestee for the tailored suit or the gay color of a scarf against the softer tone of the new spring coat. There are many new and lovely arrivals in the Neckwear Section that are most moderately priced.

Radium Vestees Have the Tailored Vest Front at $6.25

A vestee of radium silk that is a perfect complement to the tailored suit of navy blue comes in white, blue and tan. It has the vest front. $6.25.

Georgette Vest Sets Are Tucked and Buttoned $3.50 to $4.95

Georgette vest sets that are smartly tucked and trimmed with buttons are shown in white, flesh, tan, peach, red and blue. They are priced at $3.50, $3.75 and up to $4.95 a set.

Black and White Scarfs for the Smart Tailleur at $3.95

Scarfs of georgette in the fashionable combination of black and white are worn with black tailored suits or coats with lovely effect. $3.95. Fancy blocked patterns in colors are priced from $2.45 to $3.25. A smart scarf is indispensable for one's Easter costume and among these are spring's prettiest styles.

Ecru Lace Vests Sets $1.25 to $6.50

Vest sets in ecru lace in a combination of two or more beautiful patterns are priced at $1.25, $1.95, $2.50 and $6.50. They may be used with suits or frocks.

Georgette Scarfs in New Floral Patterns Specially Priced at $1.59

Beautiful new patterns in flowers decorate the new georgette scarfs in pastel shades. Generously long and daintily finished. This quality is a value you will appreciate at $1.59.

Collar and Cuff Sets of Two-Toned Georgette $2.50 and $2.75

Any simple frock will be chic enough for Easter wear if it is embellished with a two-toned collar and cuff set in the daintiest of ruffled effects. These may be had in combinations of two colors also at $2.50 and $2.75.

Wash Frocks for Spring- time School Days $1 and Upward

Wash frocks for little school girls are made of fast color English prints and ginghams with smocking, embroidery and smart ribbon ties. The smaller children will need the bloomer frock and the girls up to fourteen will be dainty in straight-line frocks made in the season's newest shades. $1 up to $12.

Sweaters That Smart Little Girls Are Wearing

A new spring sweater is a necessity for cool days and the variety of weaves and styles and colors in sizes for children of six and seven gives every mother ample choice. $2.75 to $5.

—Fourth Floor—

Navy Twill Suits $25

An advantageous purchase allows us to offer navy blue twill suits in two-piece models at $25. They are beautifully made and the details are those of higher priced apparel. Pockets and lapels are bound in black silk braid. Coats are hip length and there are single and double breasted styles.

Coats of Imported Cloths Kasha Bound and Trimmed $29.50 and $35

Imported cloths in soft, monotone colorings of blue, tan and gray are used for smart coats at $29.50 and $35. Bindings and trimmings are of kasha in a contrasting color. Lined with crepe de chine throughout. They are straight-line models, carefully tailored.

Full Squirrel Collars on Smart Coats at $35

A charming coat in misses' and small women's sizes is shown in small indistinct plaids and checks with full collar of squirrel. In tan, brown and green effects. This is an exceptional example of fine workmanship and lovely fabric at $35.

Wraparounds That Give Smart Lines To Larger Figures

Specially Priced at $5

The needs of the not-so-slim woman have been the special concern of the makers of this lovely wraparound of pink silk brocade. It is boned well in back and so designed that it makes the larger figure seem more slender than it is. Made to control the hips without too much compression. $5.

Satin Girdles Lend Light Support to Girlish Forms

Exceptionally Lovely at $5

Slender, girlish figures are ever the favorites of fashion and the satin girdle lightly boned in front and back is sufficient restraint for lithe muscles. A very lovely model for finer wear sells at $5.

Garter Belts of Silk and Satin at $1 and $1.50

The girl with the straight figure will like the garter belt in satin or silk brocade. This model is not for women who require restraint of the diaphragm or hips. It fills charmingly the needs of the slender girl or woman. $1 and $1.50.

—Fourth Floor—

New Pajamas of Cotton Crepe $1.95

New cotton crepe pajamas so smartly cut and made and in such intriguing colors that no feminine shopper can resist them, come in figured patterns with contrasting bands for trimming. In two-piece style, sizes 14 to 17, at $1.95.

Costume Slips of Baronet Satin $1.95

Baronet satin is used in smart tailored slips in rose, peach, flesh, and white. Heavy enough to be entirely shadow proof, but so well cut that the sinuities of lines are kept. $1.95.

Crepe Satin Slips with Lace and Applique $5.75

Crepe satin and heavy crepe de chine make the daintiest of slips which call for the feminine touch—a bit of lovely applique or a riot of lace. $5.75 to $10. Another quality in crepe de chine may be had at $3.95.

Crepe and Satin Carriage Robe Sets for Babies

The baby may take his Easter airing smartly and warmly wrapped in a crepe de chine or satin carriage robe which has a matching pillow top. They come in pink and blue with the daintiest little touches of hand work. Priced from $7.75 to $13.50.

—Fourth Floor—
